NEW AND ELEGANT

STYLE OF BINDING.

THE NEW-YORK TRIBUNE SAYS:

"The materials of this story are taken from events which occurred in Tennessee soon after the breaking out of the rebellion. * * * * * * The incidents of the plot are wrought up into a narrative of stirring interest, the dialogue is lively and spirited, and the various personages who take part in its action produce an impression of positive and often strongly-marked individuality. Although founded on the temporary experiences of an exceptional period, the story will retain a durable hold on public interest by reason of its earnestness, vitality, and truth to nature."

GODEY'S LADY'S BOOK SAYS:

"Mr. Trowbridge has already gained a celebrity by his writings. The last work will give him a wider reputation. The scene is laid in Tennessee, in the beginning of the war excitement, and gives terrible pictures of the stormy passions of men and the sad scenes enacted. * * * The descriptions of natural scenery are vivid, and often beautiful and noble characters and lovely works of mercy are brought out on the dark canvas of civil war."

THE INDEPENDENT, WILMINGTON, ILL., SAYS:

"CUDJO'S CAVE.—This is the title of the most intensely interesting novel published in a long time, and is having an immense circulation. * * * It possesses the power to enchain the reader from the first line to the end, and is written with marked ability, in a most masterly manner."

THE CONTINENTAL MAGAZINE FOR APRIL SAYS:

"We believe Mr. Trowbridge has achieved a real success in his Cudjo. The plot is well conceived and sustained, and the interest never flags from the first page to the last. There is no dull reading in this book."

PETERSON'S MAGAZINE FOR APRIL SAYS:

"In 'Cudjo's Cave' Mr. Trowbridge has even excelled his former works."

THE NEW-YORK INDEPENDENT SAYS THAT

"'Neighbor Jockwood,' by the same author, is a powerful story; that the same masterly humor and the same felicity of description which appear in all Mr. Trowbridge's writing is here; that as a drama, 'Cudjo's Cave' would produce a thrilling effect. * * * The general effect of this book must be excellent. The facts it employs are terrible, it is true, but they will not be questioned in the face of myriads more terrible by far. The spirit of justice and humanity breathes from every page. The cause of Emancipation, of the Negro, and of the White Man, finds a powerful auxiliary in 'Cudjo's Cave.'

THE NEW-YORK EVENING POST SAYS:

"Mr. Trowbridge is a well-known contributor to the pages of the Atlantic Monthly, but in this volume he essays the task of a novel writer, founding his story on the incidents of the Rebellion in East Tennessee. * * * The incidents are grouped with excellent effect, and the interest in the story is sustained to the close. The sketches of border warfare are peculiarly vivid."

THE NEW-YORK DAILY NEWS (Fernando Wood's paper) SAYS OF CUDJO'S CAVE:

"This is one of the most exciting novels which we have ever read. * * * We know of no work of the kind that has produced a more powerful impression upon us; and to judge by its success, the opinion we entertain of this novel has been shared by the public."

THE WIDE-WIDE WORLD (Boston) SAYS:

"Probably no book that has been printed of late years has had so great a sale, and been so universally popular, and well received by the public, as 'Cudjo's Cave.' It combines more of the essential qualities that go to make up a 'real good book' than any work we have read in a long time."

THE BOSTON TRAVELLER SAYS:

"Mr. Trowbridge's last work, 'Cudjo's Cave,' is worthy the well established reputation of that very able writer, and justifies the warm reception which it has met from all classes of readers. * * * If there be any who have not yet read this very clever book, we recommend them no longer to deny themselves so great an enjoyment as that which proceeds from an acquaintance with its lively pages."

THE METROPOLITAN FAIR.

THE GRAND OPENING TO-DAY.

The Military Display and Inauguration Ceremonies.

The Arrangement and Decoration of the Buildings.

DESCRIPTION OF THE VARIOUS DEPARTMENTS.

Munificent Contributions of Our Citizens.

Brilliant Display of Works of Science, Art and Industry.

On this, the fourth day of April, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-four, is to be opened, in this City, the great Metropolitan Fair, in aid of the United States Sanitary Commission. According to the printed pamphlet issued by the committees, it is designed that this exhibition shall be "something much larger than a fair in the modern acceptation of the term;" and to judge by the amount of money contributed, the number and variety of goods to be exhibited and sold, the design will be much more than accomplished. The similar fair at Chicago realized $60,000; at Boston, $140,000; at Cincinnati, $250,000. At New-York, it is hoped there will be realized $1,250,000.

To aid the object of the undertaking our merchants have been called on for their goods, our mechanics for their handy work; our farmers to send in specimens of their husbandry; our busy factories invited to contribute the products of their untiring industry; the ladies of the metropolis have taken from their delicate hands their jewels and offered them on the altar of patriotism; the antiquary has given his much-prized relic; the scholar his loved volume of lore; the artist the pictured realization of his fancy; and the widow has come forward with her mite. In fact all professions, sexes and classes have been desired to loan or give, according to their capacity, in aid of the great and sacred cause of National unity.

INAUGURATION CEREMONIES.

The grand military parade, according to the published orders of Gen. Dix, will take place from Fourteenth-street at 2 o'clock P. M. There will be not less than 10,000 troops on the ground when the different regiments are assembled. The line of march was not determined upon yesterday, but will be made known this morning. The review by Gen. Dix and Staff will take place at 4 o'clock in front of the City Hall. The following order has been issued by Brig.-Gen. Stannard, United States Troops, relative to the troops under his command:

HEADQUARTERS U. S. TROOPS,
(FIRST DIVISION, DEPARTMENT OF THE EAST,)
NEW-YORK CITY AND HARBOR,
NEW-YORK, March 31, 1864.

GENERAL ORDERS No. 29.—Pursuant to orders from Department Headquarters, the troops from this command, including the Eighth Regiment U. S. Infantry and Tenth Regiment Veteran Reserve Corps, will parade for review, in connection with the First Division New-York State National Guard, on the 4th of April, on the occasion of the opening of the Metropolitan Fair of the United States Sanitary Commission.

For this occasion, the troops of this command will be temporarily organized into brigades, as follows:

First Brigade—Major G. W. Wallace, Sixth United States Infantry, commanding.
Permanent Party, general service.
Third Regiment United States Infantry.
Fourth Regiment United States Infantry.
Sixth Regiment United States Infantry.
Seventh Regiment United States Infantry.
Eighth Regiment United States Infantry.
Tenth Regiment United States Infantry.
Second Brigade—Col. D. P. De Witt, Tenth Regiment Veteran Reserve Corps, commanding.
Tenth Regiment Veteran Reserve Corps.
Battalion of the Twenty-first Regiment Veteran Reserve Corps.
Fourteenth Regiment New-York Volunteer Heavy Artillery.
Twentieth New-York Independent Battery.
Twenty-eighth New-York Independent Battery.

The regiments of the First Brigade will report to Major Wallace at 11 o'clock A. M., Monday, April 4, at foot of Twenty-third-street, North River. Those of the Second Brigade to Col. De Witt, at the same hour, at foot of Twenty-fourth-street, North River.

The line will be formed at 2 o'clock P. M., precisely, on the south side of Fourteenth-street, right resting on Second-avenue.

The General Commanding requests that every man on special, daily and extra duty, parade on that day with their companies; and that Post Commanders have as many men of their commands present at the review as can, consistently with the interests of the public service, be spared from their respective garrisons.

Maj. Stewart Van Vliet, Quartermaster U. S. A., will furnish transportation for the troops from the different posts to the City, on the morning of the 4th of April, and return the same afternoon, care being taken that the transports be at the various posts in time to convey the troops to this City by the hour named, (11 o.clock.)

By order of Brig.-Gen. STANNARD.

The ceremonies of the inauguration, which will take place in the evening, in the main building on Fourteenth-street, commencing at 7 o'clock, are detailed in the following

PROGRAMME:

1. "The Star-spangled Banner," by the united choirs of the City and the military band.
2. Prayer by Rev. Dr. Adams.
3. "Army Hymn," by D. Dresel, (words by Oliver Wendell Holmes,) sung by Mr. S. C. Campbell, accompanied by chorus and band:

"O, Lord of Hosts, Almighty King,
Behold the sacrifice we bring;
To every arm thy strength impart,
Thy spirit shed through every heart.

Wake in our breasts the living fires,
The holy faith that warmed our sires;
Thy power has made our nation free—
To die for her is serving Thee.

Be Thou a pillared flame to show
The midnight snare, the silent foe;
And when the battle thunders loud,
Still guide us in its moving cloud.

God of all nations, Sovereign Lord,
In thy dread name we draw the sword,
We lift the starry flag on high
That fills with light our stormy sky.

No more its flaming emblems wave
To bar from hope the trembling slave;
No more its radiant glories shine
To blast with woe one child of thine!

From treason's rent, from murder's stain,
Guard Thou its folds till peace shall reign;
Till fort and field, till shore and sea
Join our loud anthem, Praise to Thee."

4. Gen. Dix, on behalf of the Gentlemen's Executive Committee, presents the contents of the fair to the Ladies' Committee.
5. "Hallelujah Chorus," Handel, sung by the united choirs of the City and the orchestra.
6. Mr. Joseph H. Choate responds in behalf of the Ladies' Committee.
7. "Old Hundred," chorus and band.

The committee, Messrs. William Hall, C. A. Bristed and D. Devlin, who have charge of the evening's entertainment, have so perfected their arrangements that there will be no mistake in carrying out the programme.

During the evening addresses will be delivered by Hon. James T. Brady, Gov. Parker of New-Jersey, and others.

Gen. Sanford has ordered out the First Division, which will appear in full strength, adding largely to one of the grandest and most imposing military displays ever witnessed in this City. The orders of Gen. Sanford are specific and will be strictly observed. The usual delay occasioned by bad management in getting troops in line at the appointed hour will not be experienced to-day.

THE MAIN BUILDING.

The main building has been already described and so often referred to in these columns, that it is unnecessary to rebuild it and to again locate it on Fourteenth-street, site of the Palace Garden. The three capacious entrances are on Fourteenth-street, the eight exits on Fifteenth, and the rule allowing no one to leave by the former or enter by the latter, will be rigidly enforced unless a deviation is found to be absolutely necessary.

To the left of the main central entrance, is the room devoted to Arms and Trophies: to the right the Indian Department, and beyond the corridor is the originally the Garden of the Palace. The grand display of articles, useful and ornamental, of every conceivable description and all values, decide the character and magnitude of the exhibition, while the elaborate and superb decorations testify to the admirable tastes which have designed and perfected them. From the roof and the huge girders hang in rich profusion flags and national emblems, with innumerable devices formed of evergreens and flowers nearly canopying the apartment; and on the walls, in all directions, are beautiful displays of tasteful ingenuity. In the centre of the hall is the Floral Department, to which special reference will be made, and the balance is occupied by the departments, booths and tables assigned to different States, societies, trades, business, &c. They will all be filled this morning—everything arranged and ready for the eager gazing of this evening and the days and nights ensuing. Nearly every branch of business is is represented, and the amount of goods received marvelous. They are still coming in, and advices are constantly being received of more to come.

To the east of the main hall are the rooms for the contributions of groceries, perfumers, &c.; to the west, the picture gallery; to the south, beyond the corridor, are the curiosity shop, library, statuary, sewing machine, wooden ware, and other rooms. There is also a carriage apartment beyond the restaurant, where are a number of vehicles which have been contributed. To the rear of the Hall, on Fifteenth-street, is the building erected for the display of machinery, which will be driven by an engine of forty horse-power, located in the street.

THE FLORAL DEPARTMENT

is directly in the centre of the grand hall. The design is that of a circular temple, in height reaching to the lofty ceiling of the spacious apartment of which it forms so beautiful a feature. The columns which support the architrave, as well as the architrave itself, are festooned with various species of the evergreen, and profusely ornamented with flowers. On either side, both externally and internally, are large plate-glass mirrors; those on the exterior draped with the stars and stripes, while a soldier's canteen, of silver, is pendent from the top. Here are exhibited every description of boquets, flowers in baskets, flowers in wreaths and in bunches, and flowers by themselves; cream-white lilies, blood-red roses, sweet-scented violets, and all the lovely children of the race of flowers. Upon the architrave, which is decorated with wreaths of immortelles, are the names of the principal Union victories, in letters which, when the room is lighted, sparkle like so many jets of flame. The counters are ornamented with rich vases, filled with fragrant exotics, and with shining glass globes, in which the glittering goldfish disports himself. The temple is about thirty feet in diameter. From it ascends a winding staircase to another smaller temple, but, if possible, more beautiful in its ornamentation than the first. Everywhere in these beautiful structures are flowers, the air is perfumed with their odors, the senses are lulled into a dreamy blissfulness with their sweet fragrance tempting the beholder into thoughts of those Eastern lands, where, as the poet, Percival, has said, the people "talk in flowers," while his ear is ravished by the liquid trills of the silver-throated warblers from their airy, golden cages, till fancy almost pictures, in the beautiful women in attendance, dwellers in the far Orient, and looks to see "Haroun Alraschid" seated in his bower. We predict that the Floral Department will be one of the centres of attraction.

THE FIRE DEPARTMENT,

"always ready," have in this instance not only lived up to their motto, but have created one of the most magnificent stands ever seen at a fair. The last to commence, they were the first finished, and their stand is the most extensive in the building. They have used, and well used, the entire space allowed them, viz.: 75 by 15 feet; their edifice covers it all, and in beauty and utility stands unexcelled. It is beautifully ornamented. In the centre, immediately above the counter on which the goods are exhibited, is a large coat-of-arms made of plaster, by Garvey; in front of it, a small model of old Empire Engine No. 42; from the centre to the ends, along the roof of the edifice, are placed various beautiful cut-glass signal lights, which will be lit up every night. Between the lights on the gothic ornaments of the roof are inscribed the names of various Union victories. At each end of the stand, in an ornamented niche, is placed a miniature fire engine, and the fire-caps of the late Engineers Donovan and Farnum, the last of whom was Colonel of the First Regiment Fire Zouaves, and died in the service. Above each stands the statue of a fireman, in full fire rig; below them, two life-size bronze figures. Above the whole stand, on the immense rafters, are arranged four pyramids of fire-caps, one cap from each company who have contributed to the Fair; and between them three stands of brass and copper pipes, belonging to various engine companies, so arranged as to reflect the light upon the flags about them; above them, again, is a group of ladders, hooks, axes, tormentors, picks, hose, pipes, lanterns and torches, made of the real articles; behind these is a tent of flags. The roof of this edifice is also made of flags, and they are beautifully draped and arranged in numerous other ways among the ornaments. In front of the whole affair is an immense gas fixture, bearing the word "Union," surrounded with Stars, an Eagle, and the words "New-York Fire Department Fund." On the rafters in front will also be placed large gas lights with reflectors to throw the light upon the entire stand. At night, when the large fixture, the ones on the rafters, and the signals are all lighted, reflecting upon the highly polished pipes, the little engines, fire caps, bright colored flags, and the articles on exhibition, the effect will be truly magnificent. The contributions have been very large, and among them there is much that is rich, rare and fanciful. Not only have the Firemen made their stand very beautiful, but they have also arranged it for the comfort of the ladies who attend it. A floor has been erected behind it, some two inches above the original floor, and it is neatly covered with matting. They have also built for the ladies a little sitting and hat room, neatly carpeted and furnished. Messrs. William H. Wickham, James L. Miller and Sylvanus J. Macy, who have for some time past given almost all their time and attention to this portion of the fair, may well feel proud of it, and should be congratulated upon its grand success. It is certainly second to none, and the members of the department will long remember them and their exertions.

NEW-JERSEY DEPARTMENT.

The public have already been informed that the State of New-Jersey was invited to participate in the great fair. Owing to the great pressure for room but a limited space could be assigned, but this is taken advantage of in a manner which will show that the State does not deserve all the abuse it sometimes has to bear. Her people have been making great exertions during the past few weeks, determined to come short of none in zeal. The chief management of the department—by a happy selection of the State Sanitary Commission—was, at the beginning, placed in the hands of Walter Rutherford, Esq. His determination and success will be more highly appreciated when it is known that he has been confined to his room most of the time by the breaking of his arm, without intermitting his labors in the good work. Fortunately he had already secured the invaluable services of the renowned artist, Mr. J. F. Cropsey, who has patriotically given up his whole time for weeks in personally superintending the erection of a grand bazaar for the display of the treasures which New-Jersey ladies will have to sell. This occupies seventy-five feet to the west of the Grand Hall, and here a structure of great elegance has been reared, and of the cheapest materials. The effect of it from the middle of the area in front is exceedingly fine, and will indicate to the stranger a true artist's design and handling. At each end is a summer-house; that on the left, open and graceful, in somewhat of a Moorish style, with its brilliant coloring only, with the presence of fair damsels within, completes a view, as attractive as anything we read of in Oriental romance. Through its suggestion of the Alhambra and the Moors, your attention will pass with an easy transition to its mate on the right—although contrasted in every outward particular. Here is a venerable building of simple, unattractive architecture, moss-covered and apparently in decay, which will still probably attract more interest than the first, as a historical reminiscence of Washington Irving. It is intended to be an exact reproduction of the summer-house of "Cockloft Hall," consecrated to pleasant memories of Salmagundi and its genial young authors. Let no one say no good thing can come out of Jersey. One of the most charming landscapes in our realm spreads its glories along the banks of the Passaic, and amid its lovely gardens the youthful genius of our foremost writer sought its inspiration, and here began its fame. It was a happy thought that New-Jersey should improve the opportunity to show her appreciation of literary greatness, and at the same time greatly contribute to the interest of the Fair by exhibiting this fac simile. The original stood on the old Gouverneur estate, which afterwards descended to Mr. Gouverneur Kemble, and is now in the hands of Mr. Winslow L. Whiting, at Belleville, and it has been very faithfully copied. Even a window in the rear, which could not be introduced, has been skillfully replaced by a clever, bright painting, which suggests the scenery that ought to be there, and at the same glance gives you the genial, comical face of "Pindar Cockloft," peering above a huge pile of books. Over the door are the comical lines the original bore:

"In hoc est hoax, cum quis et jokesses,
Et smokem, toastem, roastem, folkses.
Fee, fau, fum."

By the kindness of Mr. Putnam, an additional interest is given by the loan of the table on which Irving was wont to write, and some chairs from his study. It is also embellished with paintings illustrative of the great author, his residence and writings. At a convenient point of observation a venerable owl may be discovered in an attitude of profound thought, though it may not be at first sight evident whether it is musing over the memories of the past, or taking its last, long nap. This owl, by the way, entered the service of the New-Jersey Department on the recommendation of a lady who certifies that it "is capable of representing all the wisdom New-Jersey contains." Either a very wise owl that, or a very satirical woman!

In the interval between the summer-houses, we find four compartments, designated by the names of the seasons, and decorated each in accordance. It is difficult to believe that there is not a real cake of ice over "Winter;" or that the melons of "Autumn" are not as luscious as they seem.

The articles displayed will have reference also to the same distribution. How pleasant will be the thought of seeking children's appointments in the green bower called "Spring." The Central Department is covered by an army tent that is supposed to have seen hard service, been in many a battle, they say. (Military men will please maintain a judicious reserve!) Here are collected arms, trophies, relics, battle-flags, &c., while in front stand two statuettes of bronze in ancient military costume. These, with the elegant chandeliers through the department, are generously loaned by Messrs. Ball, Black & Co., for the occasion.

Surmounting the tent, and rising to the peak of the roof, is a superb device, made up of national emblems, crowning the whole general design, and spreading its streamers of red, white and blue to the peaks of the summer-houses.

This bazaar, which is only intended for lighter and fancy articles, has already attracted much attention, and will form a very attractive feature in the fair. Contributions are being pressed forward from New-Jersey in much larger quantity than can be accommodated with display, as yet, in the limited space.

DEPARTMENT OF ARMS AND TROPHIES.

The Department of Arms and Trophies is far superior to any ever exhibited in the United States, and under the direction of Col. Rush C. Hawkins, who has given it his entire time and attention for weeks past, and who has had the articles so arranged as not only to give the room a very beautiful appearance, but also so that each article can be easily seen and examined by the spectator, is one of the greatest features of the fair, and is a grand study in itself. In the centre of the room stands a 100-pound parrot-gun, surrounded by smaller guns of all kinds; among them is a gun brought to this country by Lafayette; a Venetian gun, captured from Lafitte; field guns and mortars taken from Gen. Burgoyne, when he surrendered to Gen. Gates at Saratoga; field guns, captured at Mexico; a Whitworth gun, captured at Fort Pulaski, and numerous guns of English, French and other nations. From the ceiling hangs the original flag hoisted on the Battery when the City was evacuated by the British, Dec. 24, 1781. Immediately over the big gun hangs the flag under which Gen. George Washington was inaugurated first President of the United States. Near it hangs the flag which Commodore Perry nailed to the mizzen-mast of his ship at Lake Erie, and on it the Lawrence motto, "Don't give up the ship;" and attached to it, the belt taken from the body of Capt. Lawrence, when he was killed, on board the American frigate Chesapeake, in her engagement with the British frigate Shannon, in 1813. The north wall is decorated with flags captured by the American frigate Constitution, from the British men-of-war Levant, Cyane, Java, Guerriere and others.

Arranged about the walls in groups, are some thirty flags, carried by our infantry regiments in 1812, about as many captured from the enemy, and the first flag that crossed the Rio Grande in the Mexican war, the first flag hoisted at Yorktown after the evacuation by the rebels. Some 125 flags carried by our troops during the present war, and about 250 captured from the rebels. There are also relics from nearly all the battle-fields of the Revolution, the uniforms worn by Gen. Washington and Gen. Jackson, Gen. Washington's sword and the cane presented to him by Franklin. The first bowie-knife ever made, made by Col. Bowie himself, and with which he killed Dr. Wright, at Nashville, Tenn., in 1838. A veritable Yankee skull, taken at Bull Run, and manufactured by the rebels into a drinking cup. A stand holding portions of flag-staffs captured by our army and navy in the war with Mexico in 1847, each piece bearing a brass plate on which its history is engraved, and these plates made from the mountings of captured guns. A perfect working model of Fort Wagner, its sally-ports, casemates, magazines, guns and everything complete, and arranged exactly the same as in the fort itself. A model of Washington's stone house at Newburgh, made from stone taken from the house. A massive battery made of articles captured at Missionary Ridge, Stone River and other battles, and one article which the public may never again have a chance to see, viz.: an impression of the stamp which the British Government ordered affixed to all legal papers, and which was one of the causes of the breaking out of the Revolutionary War. This is an article of unusual interest, and is believed to be the only impression now in existence. Hundreds of other articles of equal interest are in the collection, and this department will form one of the most instructive and entertaining of the fair.

PICTURE GALLERY.

It is situated on the west boundary of the Fair grounds, and is one hundred feet in length. There are upward of six hundred paintings on view; the gallery is lofty and well-lighted from the roof by day, and at night by four hundred and ninety gas jets. At the head of the room is Mr. Leutze's well known picture of "Washington Crossing the Delaware," while the more honorable positions on either side in the centre of the apartment are occupied respectively by Church's "Heart of the Andes" and Mr. Bierstadt's "Rocky Mountains." Among the other pictures of this superb collection we noticed "Mercy's Dream," by Mr. Huntington; also his "Fair Inez," which is said to be a portrait of the daughter of the late Henry Inman; "In the Woods," by Durand; Cole's picture of "Catskill Creek," with Black Head Mountain in the distance; "Past and Present," by the same artist; Leutze's charming picture, an old favorite of the public, "The Breaking up of the Cardinal's Ball;" Church's noble picture of "Niagara,"—the finest of all his works; Thomas Hicks' portrait of Booth the tragedian; "The Merry Wives of Windsor," by the lamented J. Stewart Newton; "Venice Victorious," by Leutze; "Morning in the Valley of Conway," J. F. Kensett; Cropsey's "Coast of Genoa;" an exquisite little picture called "A June Blossom," by Geo. A. Baker; "Roll-call of the Last Victims of the Reign of Terror," C. L. Muller; and a characteristic cabinet picture entitled "Working for the Fair," by Eastman Johnson. The lower end of the room is devoted to pictures presented by private citizens and others; these will be sold in addition to a collection of photographs for albums. Mr. Brady exhibits a number of his finest specimens of photographic portraits. Above the large gallery is a small room for engravings. Mr. John F. Kensett, who has a fine picture on exhibition at Goupil's in connection with the fair, has sole charge of the Department of the Fine Arts.

CURIOSITY SHOP,

Mrs. Gibbs, who is in charge, is the daughter of Mr. Wolcott, the first Secretary of the Treasury under George Washington. The Curiosity Shop is, perhaps, the most interesting portion of the Exhibition. It contains articles of every kind which would be out of place in the other departments, such as pieces of antique furniture, very old paintings and engravings, manuscripts and autographs, pieces of armor and arms of all kinds, ancient relics, stuffed birds and animals, some of which, among the most curious, we will particularize:

Quilt from the Palace of the Emperor of China; Spanish Shrine, very costly and elegant; Candlesticks cut from the stem of the Cactus during the Mexican War; Collection of Antediluvian Fossils; Nugget of Gold and Quartz; Mermaid's Hand, with ring on finger; Chinese Parasol; Pair of Mexican Riding Breeches; Original Harpsichord, brought to this country in the earliest period; Japanese Mermaid; Storks, of Imperial Bronze, covered with coating of platina; Portrait of Harvey Birch, the Revolutionary Spy, by Jarvis; Antiquities exhumed from Mexican Pyramids during the war with Mexico; Idols from Java; Trays used by Martin Luther; Vase made of a hickory stump severed by the British, during the Revolution, on Long Island, and presented by Wm. W. Lyon to Andrew Jackson, July 4, 1829—a valuable relic for the politicians of Tammany; Canes cut at the Hermitage, of hickory; Royal Chair, brought from France during the French Revolution, the property of Mrs. L. W. Gibbs.

THE INDIAN DEPARTMENT.

The Indian Department is perhaps one of the most complete and interesting ever exhibited in this City, and is under the supervision of Mr. Bierstadt, who has spent much of his time among the Indians. The room has been fitted up in true Indian style; it is made to represent an immense wigwam; the walls are hung with skins of the buffalo, bear, deer, antelope and numerous other animals; on these are tastefully arranged a number of hunting shirts, spears, shields and trophies, among the most interesting of which are noticeable the hatchet presented by Red Jacket to the Governor of New-York, the history of a battle between the Sioux and Pawnees, written on a buffalo skin in Indian characters, the original wampum belts presented by Gen. Washington to the Six Nations, a raw-hide bag, in which the Indians carry their meat, specimens of matting made by the Indians of Vancouver Island, and numerous other articles belonging to Indian life. At the east end of the room a platform has been erected on which are pitched several Indian tents made of poles and skins. Attached to the department are some eighteen Indians of the Onondaga and Cayuga tribes, who live in these tents in about the same style as though they were in their native forests. On this platform they also daily give performances depicting various scenes in Indian life, the war dances, the trailing of an enemy, a hunting scene, the medicine man and his treatment of the sick, &c.

THE RESTAURANT.

The restaurant at the Sixth-avenue end of the building will be an important institution. It is a large and well ventilated building, capable of accommodating over 1,000 persons. Great ingenuity has been displayed in the arrangements and the best cooks in the City have been engaged. The building is 95 feet deep, 75 feet wide, and has two floors, the lower floor is approached from the grand hall through the Perfumery Department. Here savory viands will always be ready to tempt the appetite. The upper floor will be used as a banquet-hall. The whole is to be under the immediate supervision of Mr. J. A. Wood, who is Steward of the Fair. The ladies will await the call of guests. The following is the bill of fare, and it will be seen that the delicasies and substantials are within the reach of all:

On and after Tuesday, April 5, table d'hôte will be served from 1 until 3 o'clock, and from 5 until 6 o'clock. At all other times, meals will be served à la carte only.

ITEMS, &C.

The dresses to be worn by the ladies who are to tend the stalls and superintend matters in the different departments, have been determined upon. The Executive Committee will wear a blue badge, on which will be printed the arms of the State. The young ladies at the tables are to wear a broad sash going from the right shoulder to tie under the left arm. Those serving at the tables for the exhibition of goods from Rome will wear the Roman scarf. Similar distinctions will be made at other tables where articles from foreign cities are on exhibition. The dresses are to be plain black, with white linen collar and sleeves.

There is a Parcel Express established in the main hall where prompt delivery of goods purchased will be secured at reasonable rates. There will be a post-office whereat one can get a letter from an imaginary love if he desires it, and from a real one if he be enamored of either of those, attending it and she with him. Letters of all descriptions, expected and unexpected will here be found. A "spread eagle" is among the novelties at the Methodist Church table. It was presented by Mrs. Wright, of Indiana, and is made of the hair of President Lincoln, the members of his Cabinet and of some seventy members of Congress. The back bone is of the Presidential locks, and the bill of Secretary Chase's typical in their positions, perhaps of strong-backs and green-backs.

THE TICKET DEPARTMENT.

The ticket department and offices at Fourteenth-street and at Union-square, are under the control of Theodore Moss, Treasurer of Wallack's Theatre, whose great experience will prove invaluable in simplifying and systematizing the immense work to be done. There are ten ticket offices on Fourteenth-street, and experts are engaged to rapidly supply the calls. The prices to-day for admission will be $2; on Tuesday, $1. The price thereafter to be yet decided on. Season tickets are $5, but cannot be used to-day. On the season tickets is the following promise which the purchaser is desired to sign: "I hereby promise that this ticket shall be used to obtain admission to the fair for myself alone." There are within the building sub-offices, for the picture gallery, the Indian Department and the Trophy Gallery, admission to each of these being twenty-five cents extra. Tickets sold at Fourteenth-street or Union-square, are good for both places. Mr. Moss has, very considerately, established offices at Harden's Express Company, No. 74 Broadway; Rushton's, Astor House; Box office, Walleck's; Caswell, Mack & Co.'s, Fifth-avenue Hotel. These will be found a great convenience.

THE POLICE ARRANGEMENTS.

At the Fourteenth-street Building, the Police arrangements are in charge of Inspector Leonard, who has as his aids Sergeant Wilson, of the Twenty-sixth Precinct, and Sergeant Garland, of the Twenty-seventh. One hundred and one men constitute the force, which number will constantly be on duty day and night. Beyond these, a number of detectives will always be present. To the left of the main entrance is the "Metropolitan Police Sub-Station Sanitary Fair," where, if services are needed, they can at a moment be had. The office is supplied with a new telegraph instrument, considered a most splendid piece of work, which connects with the Central Office.

PRECAUTIONS AGAINST FIRE.

The arrangements in case of fire are admirable. A Fire Police, consisting of twenty-five experienced active firemen, has been organized, under the superintendence of James L. Miller and John Flenders, both well-known and esteemed citizens, and both veteran firemen. They are assisted by Capts. Vigee and Rogers. There are four fire-hydrants in the building, and to each is sufficient hose to reach any section; a hand-engine, hooks and ladders, axes, picks, buckets, &c. The Fire Police are constantly on the alert, and in case of fire, water could be brought on it in a moment.

THE LIVE STOCK

on Fifteenth-street, near Seventh-avenue, will be the source of great interest to fanciers of stock. The "Pride of Livingston County" is the largest ox ever seen here, weighing thirty-six hundred pounds. In height he is six feet four inches, of a pure white, cost $1,000, and was presented by the ladies of Livingston County. In contrast to this monstrous animal is an Albian cow, one year old, and but three and a half feet high—valued at $150; also, two Shetland ponies, which appear like mice in comparison with the huge ox. There is also a thorough-bred colt, four years old, captured at Newbern, N. C., a truly elegant animal, valued at $500. Further contributions are expected to this department.

The Union-square Building.

THE INTERNATIONAL DEPARTMENT—THE KNICKERBOCKER KITCHEN—UNION PARK, ETC., ETC.

The building erected at the north end of Union-square rapidly approaches completion. Carpenters, painters, gilders, decorators, masons, plumbers, artisans of all sorts, work like beavers from 3 in the morning until 12 at night; but the heavy rains have interfered so much with the progress of the work, that this department of the great fair will not be opened until Tuesday morning. The building consists of two wings, one on Broadway, the other on Fourth-avenue, each 90 feet by 90, connected by a low centre on Seventeenth-street, 156 feet in length; the whole facing south, with entrances and ticket offices in the wings on Broadway and Fourth-avenue. The lower windows are glazed; the upper ones are fitted with frames covered with canvas, upon which it is intended to paint various ornamental designs. The Fourth-avenue wing will be devoted to the Children's Department, and is fitted up with a stage at the rear end. Adjoining this wing is the Music Room; in the centre, the Knickerbocker Kitchen, and in the Broadway wing are the International and Floral Departments. A profusion of gas jets, arranged in various fanciful forms, will illuminate the rooms at night in the most brilliant manner.

THE DECORATIONS.

The ornamental decorations in the wings of the building will be unsurpassed by any portion of the fair. The Knickerbocker Kitchen, will, of course, be plain, and conform to the character of such a place in the days of the early Dutch settlers. The wing devoted to the children's department will be draped with red, white and blue muslin, bunting flags, standards, &c. That portion of the wood work exposed to view is painted a fashionable "cuir" color, relieved by blue scroll work, squares and diamonds. The international department will be appropriately draped with the flags of all nations; the wood work to be painted in blue and buff, with gilt mouldings. Evergreens, wreaths of flowers, natural and artificial, tapestry, paintings, statuary, and whatever else is needed, the committees have received and will use in lavish profusion to embellish their rooms.

THE CHILDREN'S DEPARTMENT.

Some have children of their own; others have little nephews and nieces that they take pleasure in making happy, and to a certainty all sorts of people were once children; so it is expected that everybody will visit the Children's Department. The young, that they may enjoy the thousand and one pleasures provided for them, and the old that they may renew their youth in the contemplation of the happy scene.

The first booth in this wing is occupied by the famous Central Park Skating Pond, originally exhibited at the Brooklyn Fair. At the other stalls will be offered for sale everything that can please the eye, delight the ear or tickle the palate of a child. Toys, confectionery, bon-bons, dolls, baby-houses in such brilliant array, that Master Charley and Miss Matilda will wonder, and hesitate, and debate, and wish, and long, over and over again, before they can make up their minds which or what to choose.

The other entertainments, to which the stage will be devoted, are especially adapted to children, and of such a character as to instruct and amuse them. It would be disclosing the secrets of the committee to detail what these performances will be; but it is advised to Master Charley and Miss Matilda to go and find out for themselves.

THE KNICKERBOCKER KITCHEN.

This will be a feature of the fair which no visitor from the City or the country will fail to visit. Its success is certain, and is due to the ladies of the committee, consisting purely of the real Knickerbocker aristocracy of the State, and to the cordial coöperation with them of all the ladies of this City and vicinity who can boast descent from the ancient Dutchmen who founded New-Amsterdam, settled Communipaw, and threw out outposts at Albany and Schenectady.

When the idea was first mooted of showing New-Yorkers now their great great grandparents lived in the olden time, "ransacking" became the order of the day among the descendants of the Knickerbockers. There was poking about in dusty garrets, there was rummaging in ancient chests and antiquated bureaus, there was a general overhauling of long forgotten lumber, and from all the litter and dust, from neglected nooks and cranies, piece by piece, the relics of the seventeenth century emerged, and the fullest and most valuable collection of venerable antiques ever got together, is placed in the hands of the ladies of the committee. The ceiling of the kitchen is low, the broad bare beams spanning it from side to side, the windows set in deep recesses, the panes of glass of small dimensions; the fire-place deep, large and ample. The greater portion of the furniture, with which this room is to be supplied, was actually brought from Holland in the seventeenth century. The original settlers of Manhattan Island were famous for their lunches and teas; hence lunches and teas will be served up in the kitchen, at the hours of 11 in the morning, for the former, and 5 o'clock in the evening, for the latter. The viands offered will consist of various dishes, that delighted the capacious stomach of a wealthy Dutch burgher of 1654. The unctious olykoek, the crisp kröller, the rich mince pie, the savoury head-cheese, and the well smoked ham; together with tea, coffee, eggs, chickens, waffles, (soft and hard,) ginger-bread, roast veal, corned beef, pot-cheese, wafers, pickles and rollitjes. The tables will be attended by the veritable negroes of old times, dressed in appropriate costume, and finally the ladies of the Committee, representatives of the "blue blood" of the Knickerbockers—the only and the brightest ornaments of the Knickerbocker Kitchen—will preside in person over the entertainment which they have gotten up with so much care. Food for the table is wanted by the ladies, and a few ancient pictures or portraits, which latter will be carefully looked after and punctually returned. They will continue to receive goods for the department at Dr. Moffat's house, No. 32 East Seventeenth-street, next door to the Everett House.

THE INTERNATIONAL DEPARTMENT.

This will contain the offerings from abroad, and is located in the wing on Broadway. It is as yet very incomplete.

In the centre will be an aquarium and fountain, the basin of which will be filled with aquatic plants and flowers. Surrounding this, will be the counter for the sale and exhibition of cut flowers.

The stalls are not yet fitted out, but will undoubtedly be for the sale of children's clothing and foreign goods.

UNION PARK.

The control of Union Park has been given to the Fair, and it will be used as a play-ground for the children.

Flowers in pots will be distributed through the grounds, swings erected, skipping ropes provided, and all sorts of out-door amusements kept up on pleasant days.

At the north end, near the fair building, the workmen are now erecting a tower to receive a mammoth steel bell, weighing 2,400 pounds, which has been generously given to the Fair. Over this tower will be placed one of Smith's patent air-lights, with four reflectors, and in the evening it is expected that this light will make the Park and its surroundings as light as day.

The Police arrangements are under the direction of Capt. Speight, and his name is a sufficient guarantee that order will be preserved, and the pickpockets driven away.

The whole will be ready to open on Tuesday morning.

At Union Square the police are in charge of Capt. Speight, Sergt. Ullman, of the Fourteenth Precinct, acting as his aid. He has a force of thirty-four men, and this number will be constantly on duty. The office is also connected with the Central office by telegraph.

A HOLIDAY TO-DAY.

It is desi[illegible] that to-day be made a General Holiday. All the public offices, banks, &c., will be closed, and business will doubtless be generally suspended. The following is the Mayor's

PROCLAMATION.

I deem it a duty to call the attention of my fellow-citizens to the fact that, during the continuance of the unhappy strife in which our once peaceful States are involved, there has arisen a host of Good Samaritans, whose sole care is "to allay the pain and draw out the irritation" of the unfortunate participants therein.

The Sanitary Fairs throughout the country are to culminate in the gigantic enterprise of the benevolent ladies of this Metropolis which is to be inaugurated on Monday next, with appropriate military and civic ceremonies. In view of the importance of the occasion, and the praiseworthy associations connected with this labor of love, I recommend to my fellow-citizens to observe the 4th day of April, inst., as a holiday, and that all business, except works of charity and necessity, be suspended.

Dated New-York, 2d April, 1864.
(Signed) C. GODFREY GUNTHER, Mayor.

The Surrender of Yorktown.

YORKTOWN, WESTCHESTER COUNTY, N. Y.,
Friday, April 1, 1864.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

At our town election, held on Tuesday last, the Union men made almost a clean sweep, electing by handsome majorities the Supervisor and all the other officers on the ticket save two.

The like has not occurred here before in several years, and I deem the above fact worth reporting as an evidence of a change for the better in this vicinity.

Yours truly, A SUBSCRIBER.

GOLD PENS WITHOUT CASES.

For 25 cents, the Magic Pen; for 38 cents, the Lucky Pen; for 50 cents, the Always-Ready Pen; for 75 cents, the Elegant Pen; and for $1, the Excelsior Pen. These Pens are not numbered, but correspond in sizes to Numbers 2, 3, 4, 5 and 6 respectively.

THE SAME PENS IN SILVER-PLATED EXTENSION CASES, WITH PENCILS.

For 50 cents, the Magic Pen; for 75 cents, the Lucky Pen; for $1, the Always-Ready Pen; for $1 25, the Elegant Pen, and for $1 50, the Excelsior Pen.

These are Well-Finished, Good-Writing Gold Pens, with Iridosmin Points, the average wear of every one of which will far outlast a gross of the best Steel Pens, although they are unwarranted, and, therefore, not exchangeable.

MORTON'S WARRANTED PENS.

The name "A. Morton," "Number" and "Quality," are stamped on the following Pens, and the points are warranted for six months, except against accident.

The numbers indicate size only; No. 1 being the smallest, No. 6 the largest, adapted for the pocket; No. 4 the smallest, and No. 10 the largest Mammoth Gold Pen, for the desk.

Long and medium Nibs of all sizes and qualities. Short Nibs of Numbers 4, 5, 6 and 7, and made only of first quality.

The Long and Short Nibs are fine pointed; the Medium Nibs are broad, coarse business points. The engravings are fac-similes of the sizes and styles.

For $2 50 a No. 4 Pen, 1st quality; or a No. 5 Pen, 2d quality; or a No. 6 Pen, 3d quality.
For $3 a No. 5 Pen, 1st quality; or a No. 6 Pen, 2d quality.
For $3 50 a No. 6 Pen, 1st quality.

GOLD PENS, ALL FIRST QUALITY, IN SILVER-MOUNTED DESK-HOLDERS.

For $4 a No. 8 Pen; for $5 a No. 9 Pen; and for $6 a No. 10 Pen.

The "1st Quality" are pointed with the very best Iridosmin Points, carefully selected, and none of this quality are sold with the slightest imperfection which skill and the closest scrutiny can detect.

The "2d Quality" are superior to any Pens made by him previous to the year 1860.

The "3d Quality" he intends shall equal in respect to Durability, Elasticity and Good Writing Qualities (the only true considerations) any Gold Pens made elsewhere.

In regard to the Cheap Gold Pens, he begs leave to say that, previous to operating his New and Patented Machines, he could not have made as Good Writing and Durable Pens for the price, had the Gold been furnished gratuitously.

Parties ordering must in all instances specify the "Name" or the "Number" and "Quality" of the Pens wanted, and be particular to describe the kind they prefer—whether stiff or limber, coarse or fine.

All remittances sent by mail in registered letters are at my risk; and to all who send twenty cents (charge of registering,) in addition to the price of goods ordered, will guarantee their safe delivery.

Parties sending Gold or Silver will be allowed the full premium on the day received.

PUBLIC NOTICES.

PROCLAMATION.

I deem it a duty to call the attention of my fellow-citizens to the fact that, during the continuance of the unhappy strife in which our once peaceful States are involved, there has arisen a host of Good Samaritans, whose sole care is "to allay the pain and draw out the irritation" of the unfortunate participants therein.

The Sanitary Fairs throughout the country are to culminate in the gigantic enterprise of the benevolent ladies of this Metropolis, which is to be inaugurated on MONDAY next, with appropriate military and civic ceremonies.

In view of the importance of the occasion and the praiseworthy associations connected with this labor of love, I recommend to my fellow-citizens to observe the 4th day of April, inst., as a holiday, and that all business, except works of charity and necessity, be suspended.

The position of second floor offices may be made subservient to convenience of entrance and best advantage of main hall.

The superstructure to be of Illinois marble, pressed brick, or of both combined, metal roof, no dome.

The Board desire to erect a building somewhat economical, of elaborate style, but durable in material and workmanship, with most approved system of ventilation, lighting and drainage, with arrangements for heating with steam or water. 20 feet under court on east side, and under sidewalks on Washington and Lasalle streets, to be available for coal and water closets. Cost of building from $150,000 to $200,000.

Plans to be drawn on ¼ scale—geometrical drawings not colored—accompanied with full explanations; estimates separate for each part of the mechanical work required for the erection and completion of the building, to be enclosed to the Chairman of the Building Committee, which will be opened at noon on the FIRST DAY OF MAY next. $1,000 to be paid for the plans adopted. VEYRASSET,	ANTEROCHE,
ROZIER,	CHAIGNEAU.

A few choice WATER-COLOR DRAWINGS, by the popular artists, DAVID, MARRON, LE BAS, MARELK.

All of these fine works of art have been selected especially with the view of getting representative works of the artists, and have been painted at the best period of their lives, a number dating back several years, and some being the exhibition works of the artists for 1863.

All are in excellent condition, having been submitted to the artists for revision previous to shipping. The frames are nearly all new and elegant, the choicest pictures being protected with cases and heavy plate glass.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

THE REBELLION.

The steamers Matanzas, from New-Orleans March 25, and the Columbia, from same port, March 26, arrived at this port yesterday. There was little additional news. The army was still advancing, but more slowly than it had been, because it was getting farther away from its supplies. The troops sent by Gen. Banks to form a junction with Gen. Smith's forces, had reached Alexandria on the 14th of March, having made the unparalleled march of one hundred and seventy miles in five days. A steamer had arrived at New-Orleans from the Red River, bringing twenty-eight rebel officers, captured in the fight at Bayou Rapides. Among them was Gen. Dick Taylor's Chief-of-Staff.

Advices from Ringgold say that the rebel forces in that region are concentrating, and the opposing pickets are within a mile of each other; but there seems to be no intention to "crowd." Joe Johnston's force is still estimated at 35,090 men, there being no reason to believe that he has been largely reinforced from East Tennessee or Alabama. Over 900 deserters came into Chattanooga during the month of March.

Telegrams from the West say that Forrest's rebel forces are scattered throughout parts of Kentucky, and Ben McCullough is reported to be on the way North to reinforce these rascals with 2,500 of his followers. Gen. Grierson's cavalry are trying to intercept Forrest's retreat. They will probably pick up many of his men, and may be able to prevent the rebel force under Gen. McCullough from joining him.

CONGRESS.

In the House Saturday, Mr. Pendleton, of Ohio, called up his motion to reconsider the vote by which the House disagreed to the Senate's amendment to the Montano Territory Bill, and asking a committee of conference. He argued that the Senate's amendment striking out "white," was to give "negroes" the right to vote in the Territory. Mr. Pendleton's resolution was tabled. The House then resumed the consideration of the Raritan and Delaware Bay Railroad Bill. Mr. Sweat, of Maine, spoke against the bill, believing it nad no warrant in the Constitution of the United States or laws of the country.

STATE LEGISLATURE.

In the Senate, Satorday, bills were reported to incorporate the Musical Mutual Protection Union; for the improvement of Courtland-avenue, Morrisania; to repeal the act relating to the Jail and Penitentiary of Kings County. The following bills were advanced to a third reading. To incorporate the Columbian Club of New-York; to incorporate the New-York Guarantee and Indemnity Company; to amend the charter of the United States Warehousing Company.

In the Assembly, reports were made fixing the salary of the Governor at $10,000; the Lieutenant-Governor, Secretary of State, Comptroller, Treasurer, and State Engineers' salaries at $5,000, and the Canal Commissioners each at $4,000. The following bills were passed: Incorporating the New-York State Temperance Society. Incorporating the New-York Clever Fellows' Club. Authorizing the New-York Children's Aid Society to hold real and personal estate. Incorporating the Musical Mutual Protective Union. The Supply Bill was ordered to a third reading. The bill amending the Metropolitan Police Act, increasing the pay of policemen, was recommitted, with power to report complete.

GENERAL NEWS.

King Louis II., of Bavaria, has notified to his subjects his accession to the throne by a proclamation dated the 11th March, and countersigned by his Ministers. In this document the young King takes the title of King of Bavaria, Count Palatine of the Rhine, and Duke of Bavaria, Franconia, and Suabia. He orders that all the functionaries of the kingdom should continue their functions until he may decide otherwise. Prince Adalbert of Prussia, and Prince Charles of Hesse, have arrived at Munich, where the Archduke Louis Victor of Austria, and a deputation of Austrian cuirassiers, of whom the late King Maximilian was Colonel, were also expected to attend the funeral.

The Journal de Rennes announces the death in that city, at the age of 71, of Mr. John James Appleton, of Massachusetts, and formerly Chargé d'Affaires for the United States at Madrid and Stockholm, at which latter city he negotiated the treaty of commerce which still serves as the basis of the relations between North America and Sweden. The deceased was born and educated at Boston. A daughter of Mr. Appleton is married to M. Eugene Pinault, Deputy Mayor of Rennes.

A paragraph in the Macon (Ga.) Confederate says that of the vast amount of Confederate money now in circulation, not over one-half will be converted into bonds within the time specified by law. It says that there are millions of dollars in the enemy's lines, beyond the ocean and elsewhere, that cannot get back in time to be funded, and it estimates a consequent profit to the treasury of about one hundred millions.

The County Volunteer Committee have completed arrangements to pay the county bounty for enlistments in the navy. The advertisement calling for such enlistments may be found in the Times of to-day.

A fair inquiry prevailed for Flour and Wheat, on Saturday, at buoyant prices. Corn was heavy and cheaper. Cotton was quiet, and tending downward. Provisions were in good request, as were also Fish, Fruit, Leather, Petroleum, Tallow and Whisky, at full and rising prices. The Freight market was quite heavy, with 372 vessels of all classes in port.

The Stock Market opened tame, but left off buoyant on Saturday, on the Railway and Mining Shares. Government Stocks were also firm. Gold 166@166½ cent., the Custom demand being supplied at 166 per cent.

The Presidential Nomination.

We hear from Washington that a tremendous "pressure" is brought to bear upon the Union National Committee, to induce them to postpone the National Convention for nominating a Union Presidential candidate. We observe, also, in sundry newspapers, urgent appeals to the same effect, which are probably part of the machinery of the "pressure" referred to. The time for meeting this year is the 7th of June—considerably later, we believe, than these conventions have been usually held. In 1860 the Chicago Convention met on the 15th of May, without objection from any quarter that it was too early.

It is urged, with a good deal of force, that, as the country is now engaged in war, it is highly desirable to avoid, as long as possible, the heat and stir of a Presidential contest. It is important, certainly, to keep public attention fixed and public effort concentrated on the contest against the rebels in arms, and all other controversies should be postponed, so far as possible, and always held subordinate to that. But the election cannot be postponed, nor can we prevent a perpetual political controversy between the Administration and its enemies. There is one thing, however, still more disastrous than such a contest, and that is a bitter, factious dissension among Union men; and that should be ended as promptly as possible. Those who urge delay in making the nomination, do so on the ground that time is needed to develop and collect public sentiment. The Tribune, for example, thus puts forth its reasons for desiring a postponement of the convention:

> "Our general idea of the matter is this—that, until the choice of Union candidates for President and Vice-President shall have been definitely made, the field is entirely open, and every Unionist is at perfect liberty to propose and advocate any Unionist who may be his individual preference. One desires the renomination of the present incumbents; another would renominate the President, but not the Vice-President; a third would renominate the latter, but not the former; a fourth would present new candidates for both positions. Each Unionist, then, is invited and encouraged to name the men of his choice, and to commend their nomination by adducing such facts and arguments as to him shall seem cogent and effective, with a tacit understanding that we all say and do nothing that shall preclude a hearty and effective support of whatever ticket shall ultimately be presented. All who choose having spoken and been heard, the convention assembles, gives heed to every representation, and finally decides as it shall deem best; and then we all turn in and elect the ticket. Such is our idea of the way in which this matter should be dealt with. And, if this is to be the accepted view, we think a postponement of the convention to August, if not to the 1st of September, eminently desirable, and morally certain to prove beneficent."

This secures one thing beyond all peradventure, viz., an intestine war within the ranks of the Union party, for three additional months—a war partly about measures and partly about men—a war leading inevitably to bitter personalities, to whole sale assaults upon the character and conduct of prominent men of our own party, and to the weakening of the Administration, which is expected, meantime, to carry on military operations with vigor and success. In what respect the Union party, or the country, is to derive benefit from a protracted wrangle of this kind, we cannot imagine. It would undoubtedly somewhat improve the chances of scheming politicians who have their own interests to build up, their own advancement to promote and their own resentments to gratify, by giving them a wide field and a longer time for their intrigues. Their hope is that by such a delay they would stir up the elements of rivalry and jealousy in the Union party, and induce a state of affairs more favorable to their designs than that which exists at present. They are probably correct in this belief; but we do not see in what way they could thereby benefit the country or the cause. Every loyal and right-minded man will seek to promote, first of all, the union and harmony of the party on which the country must rely for the quelling of the rebellion; and he will discourage and resist everything which tereatens to prevent that Union, and to perpetuate the grounds and causes, real or fictitious, of dissension in the ranks of those who stand by the Government in its contest with the rebellion.

Any postponement of the convention seems to us calculated to do infinite mischief in this respect. It will promote discord in the Union ranks. It will absorb, in the struggles for personal preferences, energies and efforts which ought to be devoted to the vigorous prosecution of the war. It will afford fresh openings for the intrigues, and fresh encouragement for the efforts of the enemies of the Administration, who are already doing everything in their power to fan the fires of domestic discord in the Union party. The sooner the nomination can be made the better. The decision of that question will remove the only peril that threatens us in the coming canvass. The great body of the Union party will undoubtedly support the nominee of the convention, as the Tribune assumes; the sooner, therefore, the candidate is selected the sooner shall we have that united and hearty support which is so important to the country and the cause. And the longer it is delayed the longer will that united and harmonious action be postponed.

It is alleged that an early convention is favorable to Mr. Lincoln's renomination, and that its postponement is, therefore, due to his opponents. There may be good logic in this, but we don't see it. We believe it to be true that the great body of the people composing the Union party desire Mr. Lincoln's renomination; and we have no doubt that zealous and intriguing politicians who seek to prevent it, could be able, with three or four months of time at their command, to create a good deal of hostility and devise a good many ingenious schemes for deceiving or defeating the popular will. Beyond this we do not see what could be accomplished; and for this, we certainly do not think the convention should be postponed. We cannot afford to waste the whole Summer in personal wrangles over the nomination. Such contentions waste our own strength and encourage and aid the common enemy. Let us at once select our standard-bearer. The sooner this is done, the sooner shall we all rally to the support of the Union, in the political canvass, and on the battle-field; and every blow struck in the one will tell upon the other also.

The Liability of England for Indemnity.

We have called attention before to the clear and conclusive arguments of a distinguished publicist of Boston, Hon. C. G. Loring, on questions at issue between England and America. Nothing more able in the recent discussions upon international law has appeared, in our judgment, on this side of the Atlantic. Mr. Loring, in a new pamphlet upon the important question of "England's Liability for Indemnity," discusses especially the letters which have appeared from "Historicus" in the London Times, upon this subject. The position of "Historicus," it should be remembered, was the following, as appears in Mr. Loring's clear analysis:

> "1. That a cruiser, bearing the commission of a belligerent, though unlawfully equipped within a neutral's territory, is in all other places than within the neutral jurisdiction, a lawful vessel of war.
> 2. That the position that maritime belligerancy ought not to be conceded to a Power which has no prize-court, is 'a piece of ignorant rubbish;' the rule that requires the bringing in of a captured vessel to be tried by a prize-court being intended exclusively for the benefit of neutrals and not of belligerents, neither of whom can have legal ground of complaint for anything done by his adversary.
> 3. That so long as the prizes captured by such a vessel, unlawfully equipped in neutral territory, and not brought within the neutral jurisdiction, they are good prizes with which the neutral government is not bound to interfere, and for which it is under no obligation to make indemnity; and
> 4. That the whole duty of the neutral government is confined to the restoring to the owners any prizes made by such vessels brought within its territorial jurisdiction, requiring the immediate departure of such vessels from her ports, and prohibiting to them the right of asylum therein, which it affords to the lawful cruisers of both belligerents."

Mr. Loring argues, in reply, that the Alabama was "unlawfully equipped," from evidence which is now familiar to all our readers; that her escape, under the well-known circumstances, was an offence against both the Enlistment Act of Great Britain and the law of nations. He further claims that the order subsequently sent out for her arrest, if she should enter Queenstown or Nassau, shows that the British Government felt that their obligation did not terminate with her escape from Liverpool, and that they were equally called upon to forbid her any other British port. This obligation Mr. Loring does not consider to be a mere duty of comity, which may be asserted or disregarded at the pleasure alone of England, but to arise from the law of nations itself, and to be of the same nature and origin with the duty to restore prizes of such cruisers, if brought within her jurisdiction:

> "It is the completion or carrying out of the original obligation to prevent the equipping of vessels in neutral ports for hostile expeditions against a friendly Power, which would be obviously imperfect, and, to a great extent, nugatory, if vessels guilty of such violation and escaping should be afterward permitted to return to enjoy the benefits of their crime in the ports of the country whose laws they had violated."

The treatment of a belligerent cruiser, unlawfully equipped within a neutral's jurisdiction, as "a lawful vessel of war," he justly claims to be entirely a matter at the pleasure of the neutral, who, if she considers it may serve the peace of the world, is fully justified in "violating the immunity of the flag," and in seizing the vessel even on the high seas.

In answer to the second of "Historicus'" points, our publicist asserts that the United States do not complain against the rebels for destroying vessels at sea, or that any of the rights of the nation are violated, which they could maintain before a court, if the prizes were taken before one for trial; nor would they complain of England for not interfering to prevent such destruction by any established nation, existing as such by its own right. But our complaint against England is that she voluntarily recognizes the rebels as a maratime belligerent, when they are now, and have been from the beginning, without legal capacity to act as one, according to the law of nations—they "having no port into which they could take a prize for the application of that fundamental rule, which renders the adjudication of a prize-court essential to any right of the captors to dispose of it." And, furthermore, the recognition of England being the sole source of their power to plunder and destroy American commerce.

Mr. Loring accepts the propositions of "Historicus," that if there be "a culpable slackness or indifference" in the Executive of a neutral nation, in not preventing her soil from being made the base of hostile operations against either belligerent, "it may justly be regarded by the injured belligerent as evidence of a fraudulent neutrality, which he would be entitled to construe as a connivance at, and participation in, the schemes of his enemy;" and that "such conduct would amount to an alliance or complicity with the enemy, equivalent to hostility, and justly treated as such."

The position of England on this question, he forcibly sums up, in effect, thus: She acknowledged the rebels as a belligerent Power at sea before she could know that they would ever have a ship afloat; she continued the acknowledgment when they had not a single port, as a base of their maritime operations, or into which they could bring their prizes for adjudication. Several ships of war, built, equipped and manned in British ports in violation of her neutrality, through culpable slackness of her Government, are destroying our commerce—they making her ports their only base of operations. These ships perform their captures and allure their victims to them under the English flag. The main profit of these spoliations goes to British capitalists, in turning the American carrying-trade into their own vessels. These cruisers continually burn and destroy ships and cargoes at sea without trial or adjudication, even involving English property in the destruction.

England knows that a recalling by her of her acknowledgment of belligerency, or a closing of her ports to these piratical cruisers, would at once break up their career of devastation, as the American vessels of war could easily watch the few ports which would then be open to them for coaling or taking in provisions. Yet she refuses to take either of these courses, so clearly demanded by justice and the spirit of international law, and so plainly corresponding to the uniform practice of this Government towards England, when she was at war and we were at peace.

From all these considerations, we may fairly claim in the words of "Historicus," that the position of Great Britain toward this Government is that of "a fraudulent neutrality," "a connivance at and participation in the schemes of the enemy," and that her Government has shown "a culpable slackness and indifference" which justify us in demanding indemnity for the losses inflicted by the rebel cruisers, sailing from her ports and violating her neutrality.

Government Officials, Home and Foreign—Their Training and Term of Office.

Secretary Seward's letter to the Chairman of the Senate Committee on Finance, on our Consular system, and the necessity for "Consular pupils," appointed by the Government, and trained to their duties, suggests some considerations with regard to the whole public service that are well worthy of attention. It appears that the want in our Consular service of respectable young men, specially selected for it, for the performance of its subordinate duties, leads to the appointment of foreign clerks, often men of little or no education, indifferent character, and without any responsibility to anybody but the Consul, who, in times past, has too often been very little better than they. One fact cited by Mr. Seward furnishes a good illustration of what this system may and often does lead to:

> "As an illustration of the truth of this statement, I beg leave to refer to the printed report of the Fifth Auditor, dated Nov. 29, 1861, in which he stated that the immediate successor to Mr. Hawthorne in the Consulate at Liverpool, 'became a large defaulter to the Government, spent all the funds he coule reach, neglected the payment of claims for food, clothing, and medical attendance of our sick and destitute seamen, and, by a course of plunder and profligacy unequaled in our Consular history, contracted public and private debts which probably exceeded $200,000. Such a course of proceeding could not have been conducted for years had the office been provided with a clerk or pupil, appointed by the President and responsible to this department.'"

What we want, therefore, is young men to enter the lower ranks of the Consular service, and prepared to learn its duties by actual practice, to acquire foreign languages, become familiar with foreign usages, and finally, to work up into the higher grades, as the reward of proficiency or long and faithful service.

But this is not only true of the Consular service, but of every other department of the National Administration. When our expenditure was forty or fifty millions a year, and our revenue in proportion, our army fifteen thousand strong, and our navy consisted of half a dozen ships, the present plan of appointing new hands to every government office every four years, worked not well, but tolerably. It was attended with waste, corruption, inefficiency. But now when our annual expenditure has risen and is likely to remain at some hundreds of millions, and when we have, and are likely to have, a large standing army, and an enormous navy, an elaborate system of taxation, foreign relations of daily increasing extent and complexity, there is no doubt whatever that longer adherence to the old democratic theory that every American is competent for everything, and that to have been born in the United States, or "taken out his papers," fits a man to fill any office in the Government, would soon convert the Government itself into an instrument of such demoralization as never was witnessed, and would, before very long, make the whole community sick of it.

No such machine ever was or ever can be worked by untrained hands. It must be kept in a state of dependence on and responsibility to the people, but this last is completely answered by the periodical election of the President, and Senators, and members of Congress, and the periodical change of the members of the Cabinet. No change in the subordinate offices is called for by any republican principle. "Rotation in office" is a device of modern invention, and has probably done more to spread a spirit of hardened indifference to the interests of the country—to lessen the public abhorrence of crimes committed against the country—than all other bad influences put together. The prevalent indifference to all stains on a man's reputation incurred in Government employ, such as embezzlement of public funds, negligence or indolence in the discharge of public duties, cowardice, treachery and drunkenness in the army, can, we are satisfied, in a moral and religious community like ours, only be ascribed to the habit we have got into of looking upon Government offices as the personal property of politicians, instead of being, what they really are, the most sacred and most solemn of trusts. The number of cashiered officers, and swindlers, and drunkards dismissed from Government service, who now parade themselves in this City, and even flourish in "good society," is one of the most scandalous and disheartening incidents of our time.

The remedy is simple. All subordinate appointments in all departments ought to be permanent. The men who fill them ought to be either selected with great care, or trained for them from youth. Promotion should follow great zeal, and long and faithful devotion, and pensions should be granted in the civil as well as the military service. In this way efficiency would be secured, the temptation to dishonesty lessened, and a proper sense of responsibility promoted. In other words, we need a complete reorganization of the administrative machinery, and those only will oppose it who believe that Providence is going to suspend the laws of nature for the benefit of the United States.

The Extirpation of Guerrillaism on the Mississippi River.—The Lower Mississippi—he one thousand miles of the river which the rebels claimed the control of, not a great while ago—is now not only navigable, but is navigated by large numbers of commercial steamers. Boats with heavy freight and crowded with passengers are constantly passing to and fro between New-Orleans, Natchez, Vicksburgh, Memphis, etc; and from the last-named point diverge to St. Louis and Louisville, of course, safely as ever. In the long stretch of hostile country from the Delta up o Cairo, the rebel interruptions and eruptions, which were foreshadowed as something so terrible as well as effective, have never amounted to very much, since the fall of Vicksburgh, and of late months have hardly amounted to anything. Boats are rarely fired upon by guerrillas, and still more rarely damaged. We do not think that there have been two dozen commercial steamboats attacked since the opening of the year, although many hundreds have passed down and up. Traveling on the river is certainly, taking all things into account, not nearly as dangerous now-a-days as in the old times of high-pressure engines.

Various reasons may be assigned for the rebel failure to carry out their threatened programme of operations against us on the Mississippi River. One reason, doubtless, is, that they cannot afford to spare men for desultory and fruitless operations of this nature, but require the concentration of all their forces at, or within reach of, vital points. Another, and we think the controlling reason is, the peremptory and decisive retribution that was administered upon river guerrillas, and upon all who aided and abetted them, when first they attempted their cowardly tricks of firing upon passing trading steamboats. Farragut and Porter caused it to be announced along the river that these marauders would be dealt with in the most summary manner; that planters who harbored them would have their houses burned to the ground, and that towns which gave them refuge or protection would be demolished. The towns of Bayou Sara, Morganza, Donaldsonville, Grand Gulf and others, and the hundreds of blackened chimneys along the river, give proof that the threat was not an idle one. Such retribution for crime—such hunting down of the criminals—such ceaseless surveillance everywhere as has been kept up by such terrible gunboats as the Essex, taught the rebels a lesson which even rebels and murderers could not ignore. As a consequence, guerrilla operations on the river have all but ceased, and it is only now and then that we hear of a steamboat having been fired at—generally harmlessly.

Maryland.—Eight or nine regiments of slave blacks—over eight thousand men in all—have been raised for our army in Maryland. Some of these regiments have been sent down as far as South Carolina, and others will soon follow. These eight thousand men were nearly all slaves, and were enlisted voluntarily, mainly from the plantations. Very few of the free negroes of Maryland have entered the ranks. Our enlistments already must comprise three-fourths of the able-bodied slaves of the State. The remainder are enlisting as rapidly as they can find opportunity. The State Convention which meets day after to-morrow will doubtless adopt measures providing for the entire and speedy abolition of the Slavery institution. Such a step is advocated by Senator Hicks, Hon. Winter Davis, the Baltimore American, and nearly all the prominent public men and journals of the State.

The institution has already been disposed of, by local legislation or military action, in Missouri, Tennessee, West Virginia, Arkansas, and Louisiana, and in the Jeff Davis territory it has been abolished by Proclamation; so that, when Maryland has taken action, old Kentucky will occupy a very anomalous and peculiar position—quite peculiar as regards the "peculiar institution."

AMUSEMENTS.

The past week was one of almost unexampled prosperity at the Academy of Music, and if the weather had not been unpropitious in the early part of it, Mr. Maretzek would certainly be able to show the largest returns ever known at his prices in the Fourteenth-street establishment. The performance of "Robert le Diable" on Friday was witnessed by an audience that, in point of numbers, has hardly been surpassed. The same opera will be repeated to-night, and with better ensemble, we may safely conclude, than on the occasion previously referred to. These grand works require several performances before they run smoothly. To-morrow, "Faust" is to be given, and toward the end of the week "Ione" will be repeated for the last time. We are therefore to have a perfect gala week—nothing but the largest and most important works of the modern grand opera repertoire. Our readers, under these circumstances, would do well to secure their seats in time, or they mind that an energetic and eager crowd has seized the golden opportunity, and that even standroom will be denied to them, as on Friday evening.

Miss Avonia Jones an American artiste, who has recently won distinction in Europe, and of whom much is expected, commences a short season of performances at the Winter Garden to-night. A new tragic play, called "Judith," has been prepared for the event, and splendid scenery and costumes have been made ready for the occasion.

At Niblo's Garden, Mr. Booth's success in the "Fool's Revenge" has been so marked that the piece is announced for repetition until further notice.

At the Olympic Theatre, the favorite drama called the "Irish Emigrant," (for Mr. Drew,) and the laughable farce of the "Laughing Hyena," (for Mr. Mortimer,) will be performed. On Monday next Mr. Oakey Hall's new burlesque will be produced.

At Mr. Wallack's, "Rosedale" will be played for the 107th time.

At the Theatre Français, (to-morrow evening,) "Jean Beaudry."

At Barnum's, the fairy spectacle of "Aphrosa, or the Spirit of Beauty," will be played twice a day for the whole of the present week. It will then be withdrawn to make room for other novelties.

The members of the Philharmonic Society gave an extra concert on Saturday evening, in aid of the Sanitary Fair. The Academy of Music, has seldom presented so disconsolate an appearance. The entertainment, so far as the attendance was concerned, was in fact a complete failure, and the disgrace of the failure falls not upon the public but upon the managers, whose mingled conceit and incompetency have led to this unfortunate result. Had the concert been properly announced, there would have been no question on the subject of a good attendance. It is folly to suppose that the public regards the Philharmonic with any particular degree of favor. The Society is a very ordinary one in everything save meanness, which is sometimes extraordinary, and assurance which is always remarkable. It pretends to lead the way in matters musical, when in fact it only follows the lead of others. The bare external influence that it possesses was illustrated on Saturday. Instead of the rush which was expected when the direction was grand enough to open the doors, there was a miserable sprinkling of say one hundred and fifty people. And yet to this same direction the musical affairs of the Fair are entrusted. Truly that department is likely to be a source of considerable profit to the poor soldiers. We are sorry for the members of the band who sacrificed their time, and for Madame D'Angri, Mr. Lotti and Mr. Louis Schreiber, who sacrificed their talents in a cause that has only been marred by bad management. Let us hope that if they try again they may be more fortunate. The programme on Saturday was really excellent. One of the most important of the items was a new overture, by Mr. G. F. Bristow' which was played for the first time. It is named "Columbus," and the treatment is highly descriptive and suggestive—the themes being elevated and refined, with yet a sufficient amount of brilliancy to make them generally acceptable to the ear. Mr. Bristow always writes in a clear and masterly vein, and with evident proclivities toward the school of the classicists. There is a pretty touch of erudition in the agitato, where a fugal subject conveys an excellent idea of the struggles, commotions and doubtful upheavings that preceded the final triumph of the great navigator. The overture, in fact, is a credit to the Society, and will, we trust, form an item on the next regular programme.

Messrs. Mason & Thomas have brought their highly interesting series of Chamber Concerts to an end. We are delighted to hear that the pecuniary result is in the highest degree flattering. Although undertaken with no object beyond art, and without the slightest desire to make the concerts remunerative, it is still gratifying, as an indication of an increasing interest in good music, to hear that there is a balance of several hundred dollars to the good of the party.

CONNECTICUT ON THE EVE OF THE ELECTION.

Grand Union Demonstration at Hartford.

COL. DEMING, SENATOR WILSON, GENERALS GARFIELD AND SCHENCK ADDRESS THE MEETING.

Correspondence of the New-York Times.

Hartford, Ct., Saturday, April 2, 1864.

Evening, 8 o'clock.—Allen's Hall is full to overflowing. Well lighted, gorgeously decorated, and filled with a very intelligent looking audience. The view from the stage is splendid. Two great flags suspended in the back ground of the stage, flags around the gallery, and a large one outstretched in its rear, speak volumes, as they call to mind the awful struggle now convulsing the country. That these grand colors may be again the flag of all the country.

Col. Deming, being called to the Chair, is received with cheers. He announces that for some unknown reason Senator Wilson will not be present. His proud form commanding every eye, he spreads forth in a speech that brings cheers every few moments.

Col. Deming carries his audience with him at home, as he carried order and union through the City of New-Orleans, under the command of Gen. Butler. His words, to-night, will nerve the arms that carry votes to the Union ballot box on Monday next. Copperheads stand from under! Monday will crush you in Connecticut.

Gen. Garfield is introduced. Three rousing cheers go up for the young hero—the man whose decision turned his course, and whose bravery enabled him to carry the news to Gen. Thomas, which saved the army at Chickamauga. The voice that pleads for the Union to this audience, saying that this struggle cannot end until we who have done injustice are willing to do justice, until we that have fastened shackles are willing to break off shackles, sings out as though he was commanding on the battle-field, and the people echo back in rousing cheers the assurance that all the army are a unit on the Slavery question now. Will the Union men of Connecticut stand as firmly for the Union on Monday next as stand the soldiers whom the gallant General left behind him when he came to the new field of duty? Midst three rousing cheers, Gen. Garfield closed his half hour's speech.

Senator Wilson having arrived, was brought forward, the audience shouting. The speech of the man so well known through all New-England fell upon eager ears. His testimony in favor of the labors of Mr. Lincoln was applauded again and again.

Gen. Schenck, last on the rostrum, is greeted with cheers. The heart of the people is with the soldiers, and their praise is always forthcoming to those who have been with them. It has been said that the ball which shattered the arm of Gen. Schenck at Bull Run, had also tied his tongue, but this Hartford audience will with me testify that clear, forcible words carrying strong thought, found powerful utterance from his lips to-night. He will subdue the rebels at all hazards, and at all cost. "I am for putting down this wicked, infernal, causeless rebellion at all cost. I am an Abolitionist," said Schenck. Words like these spoken with such fearful earnestness, by a man who has shed his blood for his country, ought to go like arrows to the souls of traitors at home, and if there was a single Copperhead that heard them, he must have felt like crawling out of sight. Gen. Schenck closed grandly, amid rounds of cheers, "Victory to the Union ticket on Monday." The meeting was enlivened by band music and the presence of ladies.

FROM CAIRO.

Drowning of a Marine Officer—Restrictions against the Shipment of Goods to Western Kentucky.

Cairo, Saturday, April 2.

Lieut. S. C. Adams, of the Marines, was drowned last night off the Naval Wharf-boat. The body has been recovered.

Gen. Brayman has issued orders to prevent the shipment of goods to the interior of Western Kentucky, and to prevent boats landing at dangerous places; and also for the better protection of the public property, by the expulsion of persons having no visible means of support from posts in the district, who may be traitors, spies, &c.

Movements in the Southwest—Restrictions on Trade.

St. Louis, Sunday, April 3.

Private advices from Little Rock say Gen. Steele's forces, 15,000 strong, left that place for the South on the 23d ult., and will unite with the troops from Fort Smith at some point in the southwestern part of the State.

As large quantities of supplies have been recently taken into Western Kentucky, thus inviting incursions, and probably shipped for that purpose, Gen. Brayman, at Cairo, has issued orders suspending permits for landing goods between Paducah and Memphis, prohibiting steamers landing goods on the Kentucky shore between Cairo and Paducah, and between Paducah and Memphis, except at Columbus, Island No. 10, and Fort Pillow, unless under armed convoy and by order of the military and naval officers; and ferries, trading-boats, skiffs, &c., are not to be allowed to cross the river between Cairo and Memphis, and trains from Paducah and Columbus are not to run except for military purposes.

All Quiet in Illinois.

Mattoon, Ill., Saturday April 2.

All is quiet. The prisoners were sent to Springfield this afternoon. No further trouble is apprehended.

The Franking Privilege.

Those who have occasion to address the President or Vice-President by mail, will see by the following that they can exercise that right gratuitously.

"Under the provisions of the Act of Congress, approved March 3, 1863, all communications by mail, addressed to the President of the United States—not written by a public officer on official business—and all to the Vice-President were required to be prepaid. It will be seen by the following act, approved March 10, 1864, that this necessity no longer exists:

"'Be it enacted, &c., That the franking privilege of the President and Vice-President of the United States, shall extend to and cover all mail matter sent from—or directed to—either of them.'"

Marine Disasters, &c.

FORTRESS MONROE, Sunday, April 3.

The steamer Fair-Haven, from New-York for Alexandria, has been wrecked on Cape Henry. No lives were lost.

The schooner Fanny Bell, from Philadelphia for Port Royal, was wrecked at the same place. The captain, mate and cook are missing.

A brigantine is also ashore there.

The Ship Staffordshire.

BOSTON, Sunday, April 3.

The ship Staffordshire, before reported anchored and dismasted off Provincetown, will be towed to Boston to-morrow by the steamer George Shattuck.

Two More Wrecks on the Jersey Coast.

Correspondence of the New-York Times.

BARNEGAT, N. J., Saturday, April 2, 1864.

A ship and a brig are on Long Beach, about a mile below the Mansion House, and nearly opposite the village of Mannahawkin. The ship is on the outer bar, and the brig nearer shore in the undertow. They are close to the brig George, which came on shore Wednesday. No further particulars yet received.

Murder in a Concert Saloon.

PHILADELPHIA, Saturday, April 3.

An unfortunate affair occurred at a concert saloon last night. A cyprian was shot dead in a private box, by her lover, who fired three balls through her. The house was closed on account of the occurrence.

MONDAY, April, 4—A. M.

Business was active in nearly all departments last week. The Import Entries, as usual of late years, the first days in April were large, and about $380,000 ahead of the same week last season. The Exports of Domestic Produce fell short of last season, the demand for the supply of the Armies and other home objects being active. Very little Specie was exported. The Treasury sold $1,139,000 for Customs out of the large surplus standing to the use of the Interest and Sinking Funds. The rates realized in Currency were 165½@164@163½@165@166 ℘ cent.; the premiums to go to the Sinking Fund. The Gold payments out of the Treasury on April Interest amount to $1,094,000. Further payments will be made this week on same account, and we believe that arrangements are on foot to anticipate the May coupons and registered interest on the 5.20 Loan, as soon as both classes of holders can be put on an equal footing. The first instructions to the Assistant Treasurer in fixing the price of Gold for Customs, were restricted to a small fraction below the open market. But from and after this morning the latitude to this office will be considerably enlarged. Already material relief (as well as an acceptable facility in paying Customs) has been afforded to the Importers. Some of them have found it profitable to dispose of the Gold with which they had previously provided themselves in the open market, while others have used their surplus at the Custom-house.

The subscriptions to the new Popular Loan go on satisfactorily at the Treasury Office and through the National Banks. They will increase as the latter perfect their arrangements throughout the country. The opposition to the Loan, made under various pretexts, the chief of which is that 5 ℘ cent. in Gold, equal to 7½@8½ ℘ cent. a year in Currency, is not high enough, will cease, as it did under similar circumstances to the 5-20 Loan, as soon as these parties find they cannot drive the Government into their net. The first overture made in this market for the 5-20 Loan was at the rate of 90 ℘ cent., and then only for $50,000,000 of the five hundred millions. The first loss to the Government would have been $5,000,000, and at this rate fifty millions on the whole Loan, which was otherwise distributed at par and a trifling commission for conveying, advertising, &c., through the Loan Agents of the Treasury. The same popular direction through the National Banks is given to the present Loan, and it will not only be taken up by the People, but be succeeded—should the results of the Spring and Summer campaigns prove fortunate—by a 4 or 4½ ℘ cent. long Stock, placing the present 5 ℘ Cents. in the open market, where the 5-20's now stand, at ten per cent. premium.

The Money Market, for some time enlisted in support of the prevailing speculation and wild expansion of prices on the Stock Exchange, tightened up to 7 ℘ cent. near the close of the week, notwithstanding a rumored addition to the Bank Loans of Five millions, to appear on this afternoon's statement. The great bulk of many of the recently inflated Railways, we apprehend, is already under hypothication at Bank and with other money-lenders, in this market. The public at large have been steady sellers, and the number of holders in some of the Dividend-paying Roads has been reduced more than one-half, and of the non-dividend Roads, the inscriptions outside of the Street have been equally reduced—if not to a lower scale—by the same process of cornering and inflation. In one instance, the April Dividends will go to about 350 stockholders, where, some years back, the capital was distributed to 1,200 or 1,500 different holders. The proportion of the capital now held in blocks, principally on the Street, is about seven-eights of the whole; formerly only about one-fourth. In another instance a single party not only aim to monopolize the present capital of $6,500,000 of one of the non-dividend and unfinished roads of the West, (which they find no difficult task to do by bidding the price up from 85 to 145 ℘ cent.,) but agree to take, at a round premium, $3,500,000 of new capital for the service of 1864—merely in the direction of completing the work—further large sums being contemplated for the succeeding years. The condition precedent is that the original terms of the reorganization of the concern (bankrupt a few years ago) be so modified or abandoned by the Directors and Mortgagees as to allow the promise of ten ℘ cent. dividends—2½ ℘ cent. quarterly—at once to the stockholders; being at the rate of 7 ℘ cent. currency on the present market price of the shares. This condition will probably be complied with in general meeting in a few days, and then will come the distribution of ten millions of this captivating stock to the public at large, if it can be done at 150 ℘ cent., more or less.

As many of the Railway Stocks (Dividend-paying and Fancies) are running ahead too fast for some of the old Brokers and Speculators on the Street, a score or two of new Mining Schemes are being launched under favor of their names some successfully, others haltingly. Insomuch as the alteration is new, it promises well; and insomuch as the schemes themselves are to be practically, and in good faith, worked at the mines or placers which they purport to represent, as well as financially through the Street, they ought to be profitable.

It will be noticed from the following table, that the Stock market is generally up on the Share-list since Saturday week. The Bank Loans are also probably up, and the average Bank Exchanges through the Clearing House every morning—by no means an indifferent reflex of the already vast and increasing volume of speculation—say one hundred and ten millions per day:

The Customs demand for gold was supplied from the Treasury office Saturday at 166 ℘ cent. The demand was not half so active as on Friday at 165 ℘ cent. The sales amount only to $158,000. There was no Export demand in the open market, and the Speculative movement in the Gold Room was at 166¼@166½ ℘ cent. The market leaves off quiet. Bills on London, after the sailing of the steamer, were nearly nominal. The next mail will go by the China, Cunarder, hence on Wednesday next. The shipments of specie for the day amounted to only $29,220, making, for the week, $168,912, in miscellaneous gold and silver coin. The market for money is 7 ℘ cent. to most of the Stock Exchange borrowers. There was some activity early in the day, but at the close we heard no complaint of the supply at the going rate. Some intimations were thrown out that one or more of the William and Wall-street banks, holding brokers' accounts, are disposed to curtail the present vast volume of their business in the way of daily deposits and certifications. This they will probably do by asking their Stock Exchange dealers to divide their accounts, to other Banks, so as to reduce the labor and responsibility of conducting them.

The additional Gold payments out of the Sub-Treasury on the April Interest on 7.30 ℘ Cents amount to $300,000. The Specie balances in the New-York Office Saturday afternoon amount to $26,486,549.

The daily receipts of Cotton from the Southwest for the week aggregate 6,843 bales.

The Stock Exchange was somewhat tame in the forenoon, whether from the apprehension of increased activity in the Money Market or from the influence of the very disagreeable weather, was not so manifest. At the Second Board, however, Hudson, Harlem, Michigan Central, Reading and Chicago & Rock Island improved, and the Railway list was generally firmer at the close. The new mining companies were generally up and we note an additional advance on Central Gold of Colorado; Atlantic & Pacific Silver Co.; Gregory Gold; Gregory Consolidated; International Coal, &c.

There is a further rise in the Government Stocks, the Loan of 1881 selling up to 114½ ℘ cent. The 5-20s are 110½ in demand, and the offerings moderate.

At 4 o'clock the following prices were made in comparison with Friday same hour. The speculators in the Gold Room attempted to make higher figures for Monday morning to control the Treasury price for Customs. But we have reason to know that by the late Washington mail, to-day, the discretionary authority to the Assistant Treasurer on this point has been materially enlarged by the Secretary of the Treasury. The Railways continued to strengthen after the Second Board sales, and there was a rise of 1 ℘ cent. on Erie, and 3½@4 ℘ cent. on Reading. At the Evening Exchange most of the market kept firm.

ALEXANDER SMITH'S NEW BOOK.—The best of the reviews in England and this country, are very warm in favor of this volume—"Dreamthorp." The New-York Evening Post of yesterday says: "It is quite the most charming of our recent foreign reprints, and is well worthy to be placed beside the last work of IKE MARVEL, a book which may stand as the best native essay production of the season." English reviewers rank it with GOLDSMITH'S "Deserted Village" and "Vicar of Wakefield."—Boston Transcript.

Morton's Gold Pens are now sold at the same prices as before the commencement of the war; this is entirely owing to the Manufacturer's improvements in machinery, his present large Retail Business and Cash-in-Advance System; for, until he commenced advertising, his business was done on Credit and strictly with the Trade.

The Morton Gold Pens are the only ones sold at old prices, as the makers of all other gold pens charge the Premium on the Gold, Government Tax, &c.; but Morton has in no case changed his prices, wholesale or retail.

Of the great numbers sent by mail to all parts of the world during the past few years, not one in a thousand has failed to reach its destination in safety; showing that the Morton Gold Pen can be obtained by any one, in every part of the world, at the same price, postage only excepted.

Reader, you can have an enduring, always ready, and reliable Gold Pen, exactly adapted to your hand and style of writing, which will do your writing vastly cheaper than Steel Pens; and at the present almost universal High-Pressure Price of everything, you can have a Morton Gold Pen cheaper, in proportion to the labor spent upon it and material used, than any other Gold Pen in the World. NOTICE TO THE FIRST AND SECOND MORTGAGE BONDHOLDERS OF THE PITTSBURGH, FORT WAYNE AND CHICAGO RAILWAY COMPANY.—The Board of Directors of the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne and Chicago Railway Company have requested the undersigned to call meetings of the First Mortgage and Second Mortgage Bondholders, in pursuance of the provisions of the deeds of trust, for the purpose of considering certain modifications of the present financial system of the company, to which the assent of a majority in interest of each of those classes of bondholders by a vote at a meeting is necessary. The principle of the proposed measures was submitted to the annual meeting of the corporation held at Pittsburgh on the 16th inst., at which were represented a majority of the stockholders and of each class of the bondholders, and was unanimously approved.

The undersigned, therefore, in exercise of the authority conferred upon them by Article 12 of the First and Second Deeds of Trust, give notice that MEETINGS OF THE FIRST AND SECOND MORTGAGE BONDHOLDERS will be held at the banking house of Winslow, Lanier & Co., No. 52 Wall-st., in the City of New-York, on THURSDAY, the 7th day of April, 1864, at 11 A. M., for the purpose of considering the aforesaid measures.

At such meetings the bondholders, if registered, may vote in person or by proxy.

Registration on the Voting Register can be made by any holder at the office or agency of the company, at the banking house of Winslow, Lanier & Co., where the books are now open for that purpose, on presentation by the holder of his bonds, or on his filing the written order of the person last registered as the holder.

The registration was originally in the names of the persons to whom the bonds were issued. In cases in which the bonds have since changed hands, the present holder can vote only by registering himself, or upon the proxy of the person last registered.

A general attendance of the bondholders is earnestly requested, as well to act on the questions aforesaid, as to perfect the organization contemplated in Article 12 of the Deeds of Trust

The meetings of the First and Second Mortgage Bondholders will be held separately, but at the same time and place and the holders of the Third Mortgage Bonds are invited to be present, though their action is not required by the Trust Deeds

The resolutions adopted at the annual meeting, and the resolution of the Board of Directors requesting a call of meetings of the bondholders, are subjoined.

JOHN FERGUSON, SAMUEL J. TILDEN, } Trustees for the First and Second M'tge Bondholders.

RESOLUTIONS

Recommended by the Board of Directors to the Stockholders for adoption at the Annual Meeting, March 16, 1864

Resolved, That it is expedient that expenditures for construction, equipment and objects pertinent thereto, involving new capital, should in the main be provided for by an increase of capital stock of the company.

Resolved, That the increase of capital stock should be made solely for the purpose of building and completing a double track, or such part thereof as may be expedient, and for equipping the road and providing such additional rolling stock, machinery, appurtenances and other facilities as may be necessary to properly do all the business which may offer, and for no other purpose, and should only be issued from year to year in such amounts as the stockholders at their annual meetings may decide upon. Their decision shall be based upon detailed estimate, made by the Board of Directors, of the amount of money necessary for the work of the year, and that the new issue of stock shall only be sold after public notice.

Resolved, That the increase of capital for 1864 shall not exceed $3,500,000.

Resolved, That the stockholders hereby recommend, and, as far as may be necessary, authorize the Board of Directors to make such agreement or arrangement with the holders of the bonds under the trust deeds as will enable them to increase the capital stock, as indicated in the preceding resolutions.

Adopted unanimously by vote of $4,563,000 out of $6,500,000 of stock; $3,729,500 out of $5,250,000 of first mortgage bonds; $3,766,000 out of $5,160,000 of second mortgage bonds, and $1,526,000 out of $2,000,000 of third mortgage bonds, $400,000 not voting because not registered.

Resolution adopted by the Board of Directors this day:

"Resolved, That the Trustees under the mortgages, Samuel J. Tilden and John Ferguson, be and they are hereby requested to call, at the earliest moment possible, a meeting of the bondholders, in the City of New-York, to act upon the resolutions adopted by the stockholders at their Annual Meeting in the city of Pittsburgh, on the 16th day of March, 1864, and to obtain, if possible, the assent of the bondholders thereto.

The Company have forty miles of road nearly completed, and means in hand to construct and equip twenty miles more, making sixty in all, and leave the same entirely free from floating debt.

It is proposed, by the present sale of stock, to provide means for completing and equipping the remaining sixty miles, and to have the whole ready for business early in the Spring of 1865.

The road traverses the most populous and fertile portion of the State of Iowa, and has no competion for fifty miles on either side. In the judgment of its managers, it is destined to pay large dividends to its stockholders from the moment of completion. It is believed that so favorable an opportunity to invest in a most promising railway security is rarely presented to the attention of capitalists.

Mr. GOTTSCHALK'S constant use of the NEW SCALE CHICKERING GRAND PIANO-FORTES has severely tested their musical qualities, and resulted in establishing the justice of the very flattering estimation in which they are held.

STEINWAY & SONS'

GOLD MEDAL GRAND AND SQUARE PIANOS are now considered the best in Europe as well as this country, having received the first Prize Medal at the World's Exhibition in London, 1862.

The principal reason why the Steinway Pianos are superior to all others, is, that the firm is composed of five practical pianoforte makers, (father and four sons,) who invent all their own improvements, and under whose personal supervision every part of the instrument is manufactured. Warerooms, Nos. 71 and 73 East Fourteenth-st., between Union-square and Irving-place, N. Y.

MASON & HAMLIN'S CABINET ORGANS, FOR FAMILIES, CHURCHES AND SCHOOLS—Recognized by the musical profession as greatly superior to Harmoniums, Melodeons and all other small organs. [See our illustrated catalogue for explicit testimony to their superiority, from a majority of the most eminent organists in America.] Prices, $85 to $500 each.

CAUTION TO PURCHASERS.—The great reputation which our Cabinet Organs have obtained, and the extensive demand for them, have induced dealers to advertise, in some cases, quite different instruments as Cabinet Organs, and in others to represent to purchasers that Harmoniums and other reed organs are the same thing. This is not true. The excellences of our Cabinet Organs, which have given them their high reputation, are the result not merely of the superiority of their workmanship, but also, in large measure, of essential differences in construction, which, being patented, cannot be imitated by other makers. From these arise their better quality and volume of tone and unrivaled capacity for expression. Warerooms in New-York, No. 7 Mercer-st.

It is a fairy realm of travel, history, literature and song, revealing to the delighted visitor the most enchanting scenery and the most exquisite statuary and architecture of the ancient and modern day in all lands as beheld in the reality. The recent addition to our immense collection of several hundred NEW AND MAGNIFICENT VIEWS enable the management to offer an entertainment still more attractive, presenting ever fresh variety in scenes of ravishing beauty.

H. B. McKeon, Esq.: NEW-YORK, March 29, 1864.

DEAR SIR—Allow me to express to you the gratification I experienced on visiting your delightful entertainment last week. Having visited many of the scenes—near and afar off—in distant parts of the globe that you so well and faithfully represent, I am able thus to speak in the eulogistic terms I do. The statuary was indeed most beautiful; and the sudden, almost magical, transformations were truly exquisite. Calling to mind the numerous pictures of well-known places familiar to my eye that came before me, I know not which to particularize as deserving most encomium. Venice and the Bridge of Sighs; how true to the life, and how beautiful. Chamouni and Mont Blanc. Switzerland, where I have so often rambled 'midst its snow-clad alps. Paris and its wondrous specimens of architectural beauty. Egypt and its marvels. The Holy Land and its sacred spots. China, with its singular people; and more that I could name were presented to my view with extraordinary fidelity. Probably you may have many other scenes in distant parts of the globe where I have been that are to be exhibited, or were represented at other times before my visit. At all events I shall certainly come again whenever I can, and I trust you have all that success your entertainment truly deserves. I am, dear sir, yours truly,

W. PARKER SNOW,
Author of Voyages in the Arctic and Antarctic Seas, with other works of travel and adventure, &c., &c.

DEPARTMENT OF THE GULF.

Arrival of the Steamers Matanzas and Columbia—Continued Advance of Our Forces up Red River—Arrival of Captured Rebels.

The steamers Matanzas, from New-Orleans March 25, and the Columbia, same port March 26, arrived here yesterday.

We are indebted to their pursers for favors.

Correspondence of the Associated Press.

NEW-ORLEANS, Saturday, March 26.

Nothing of importance has transpired since the sailing of the Yazoo, two days ago.

Our army is still pushing on up Red River, slower, of course, than at first, as it gets further from the base of supplies, and deeper into the country that has never seen a Union soldier, except as a prisoner, since the war began.

We have not heard from Texas since Indianola was evacuated.

There is no Mexican news.

The army was never in a better condition. Dr. D. L. ROGERS, the New-York State Agent, says that out of 23 New-York regiments, there are but 402 sick in general hospitals.

The election of delegates to the Constitutional Convention takes place on Monday next. The regular Free-State nominees will be elected almost without opposition.

Last night a boat arrived from Alexandria with one hundred and twenty-two bales of cotton, and twenty-three rebel officers, captured at Bayou Rapids, about twenty-eight miles from that place. Among them is Maj.-Gen. DICK TAYLOR's Chief of Staff, and several other New-Orleans men.

P. S. GILMORE, the great Boston musician, was last evening presented, at the St. Charles Hotel, by a number of the most prominent citizens of New-Orleans, with a silver goblet, containing $500. Gov. YATES, of Illinois, and Gov. HAHN were present and made speeches. GILMORE goes North this morning on the Columbia.

Gold, 63½.

Cotton—middling, 70c.

The True Delta has the following: "We have news from the Eighty-third Ohio Volunteers, which is in advance of the troops that marched through the Teche country, to the effect that, after a long and dusty march, the advance arrived at Alexandria on the 14th inst., and that they made the extraordinary journey of 170 miles in five days. Although some skirmishing took place, no heavy fighting occurred. The rebels were driven to St. Martinsville, and 80 or 90 prisoners were captured. A continued skirmishing took place for several days. On Monday last, nearly 1,000 rebels, encamped about 18 miles back of Alexandria, were surrounded by our forces, who captured 300 of them, including 25 officers, all of whom were brought down in the Luminary. We are further informed that it was the intention to respect private property, but the gunboats commenced burning and destroying, and the troops followed the example, and now the inhabitants burn or destroy all private cotton, to prevent its falling into our hands. Most of the prisoners that we have taken appear glad, for they are tired of the war and want to get out of it."

NEWS FROM WASHINGTON.

SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE N. Y. TIMES.

WASHINGTON, Sunday, April 3.

GEN. MEADE AND THE BATTLE OF GETTYSBURGH.

Gen. MEADE has submitted a written statement to the War Committee, giving a detailed account of the battle of Gettysburgh, together with an explanation of his conduct on that occasion. His statements are corroborated by the testimony of Gens. HANCOCK, WARREN, GIBBONS and others, and triumphantly vindicate him from the accusations made before the committee by his enemies. Gen. MEADE denies in the most positive manner the statement that he issued or directed to be issued, an order on the 2d of July, or at any time, ordering a retreat to Taneytown, which is fourteen miles south of Gettysburgh. He says he had resolved, from the first, to hold his position there, and to fight the battle which he knew was impending. He had no idea of falling back, as he well knew, as everybody knows, that a retreat at that time would have involved pursuit by the enemy, and, perhaps, resulted in a rout of our army. He denies positively ever seeing any such order; and states that if the order was written it was without his knowledge or authority. The first intimation he had of its existence was received from Gen. GIBBONS, who told him on the evening of the second of July, that he had seen it in the hands of Gen. BUTTERFIELD. He promptly denied its authenticity to Gen. GIBBONS, at the time. The only basis for the accusation on this point Gen. MEADE surmises is this: Upon assuming command of the army he found himself without a Chief of Staff acquainted with the routine of business at headquarters. He requested Gen. BUTTERFIELD to retain his position as Chief of Staff until the crisis had passed. Gen. BUTTERFIELD consented, and was at once ordered to survey the position, and make himself acquainted with the rear lines of communication. This, Gen. MEADE contends, was what any prudent General would have done under the circumstances, and especially since our army had been defeated the first day, and had only partially succeeded in repulsing the attack of the enemy on the second day. He declares that the purport of the order he directed to be issued was this, and nothing more. Gen. MEADE also states, that when he learned that Gen. SICKLES had become engaged at Little Round Top, he immediately ordered Gen. SYKES, with the Fifth Corps, to his support. Gen. GIBBONS was also examined before the Committee on Saturday, and corroborates Gen. MEADE's statements in every particular.

THE BLAIR AND M'CLURG CONTROVERSY.

It will be recollected that in the controversy between FRANK BLAIR and Col. MCCLURG, on the floor of House some days since, the latter produced photograph copies of an original order for shipment of certain liquors down the Mississippi over BLAIR's signature. The point of difference was as to the amount. Four out of nine officers whose names were attached to the order were examined before the Special Committee on this case yesterday. They all swear that the original order covered the shipment of only $900 worth, but that the word "each," having been inserted by forgery, at the end of each entry, the amount was increased thereby nine times, so that the order for nine hundred was made to mean eight thousand dollars.

THE WILKES COURT-MARTIAL.

But little headway was made by the Wilkes Court-martial yesterday. The testimony adduced went to show the crippled condition of WILKES' squadron during the time he had command, and his own activity and vigilance in executing his orders. In regard to the Vanderbilt, it is established that she had sailed in company with Commodore NICHOLS ten days without receiving any orders from him, and that her Commander, Commodore BALDWIN, was not a likely recipient of any knowledge concerning the plans of Admiral WILKES, who never disclosed them to any one.

RELIEF OF CONTRACTORS.

A squad of contractors for steam engines and Government work in iron of various kinds is here, besieging Congress with doleful lamentations for relief. The enhanced price of iron since they undertook their contracts has diminished alarmingly the prospects of golden harvests from GIDEON's coffers, so they come [rubbing up their Aladin's lamp in the hope of invoking pliant genii from Congressional depths to restore to substance their departed visions. The Government has been swindled enough since this war began to justify a little firmness now in holding contractors to fair bargains, and this combination will very probably fail in its pursuit.

MILITARY NOMINATIONS.

In Executive session on Friday last there were quite a number of Major and Brigadier Generals hung up for future action, among whom were Gen. HUMPHRIES and Col. SHALER, of New-York. The President yesterday nominated Col. BURNHAM, of the Sixth Maine, as Brigadier-General, Col. [illegible] distinguished himself in leading a charge on Marye's Heights at the second battle of Fredericksburgh.

ENLISTMENT OF SLAVES IN MARYLAND.

Gentlemen from upper counties of Maryland say that the disappearance of colored males progresses with astonishing rapidity. Recruiting parties with soul-stirring music and floating banners have only to march through a neighborhood to sweep it clean of its black warriors. The war is so popular among these loyal Marylanders, that its termination will find districts hitherto dependent solely upon negroes for their labor, left destitute of a laboring population. Masters, as a general rule, make but feeble resistance to slaves enlisting, and in some cases encourage them to do so.

PRIZE-MONEY AND ITS DISTRIBUTION.

The business of distributing prize-money to the navy has been quite extensive during last month. Nineteen hundred and forty-four claims, calling for nearly $300,000, were settled in that time. Notwithstanding the attractive bounties offered for enlistments in the army, there is no branch of the service of the country that presents such inducements to enterprising young men as that of the navy. Common seamen and landsmen, in some cases, have already received nearly $2,000 each as their share of prizes captured, and still have other sums due them. The blockade-runner Memphis yielded to even the coal-passers of her captor—the steamer Magnolia—$1,700 a-piece. Now, that the navy has received a large accession of the fastest ships on the seas, and the business of blockade-running is as active as ever, the prospect of further valuable captures is almost certain.

Complaints have been made by parties evidently interested in making them, of the delays experienced in obtaining prize-money, and of the heavy shave seamen must undergo in order to collect it. It should be known that there is no difficulty in obtaining prize-money which may ready for distribution. The Fourth Auditor's Office, which has the charge of the settlement of these claims, extends every facility to enable claimants to obtain their money at the earliest moment. All communications are answered courteously, and the letter of a seaman receives the same consideration as that of an Admiral. The employment of an agent to collect prize-money is useless in most cases. The office tells the seaman who is out of the service how to fill out his papers correctly, and sends him an order for the money on any Navy Agent he may designate.

There have been delays in the settlement of prize cases, which have given cause of complaint against the department, but when it is understood that all prizes must pass through the Courts of Admiralty, where the parties owning the captured vessel may come forward and defend the case, and always resort to every quibble to insure delay, it is easily seen how groundless such complaints are. After cases pass the courts there is never any further delay in the distribution of the money.

The law requiring all persons in the service to receive their prize-money through their Paymasters alone works many hardships, and should receive the attention of Congress. As it now stands, the money due a seaman in the service can only be paid to himself by his Paymaster. If he is at sea, on duty, the order must find its way to him, before he can receive his money, although his family may be suffering for want of it in sight of the Treasury. Now, if the law was so amended as to permit what prize-money is due to the men in the service to be paid, upon their order, to whomsoever they may direct, for the benefit of their families, a great evil would be remedied, and the cause of the naval service much promoted. In this case the order should bear the attest of the Paymaster or Commander, and they should withhold their signatures, unless fully satisfied that the payment was intended for the benefit of the sailors' families.

NEW PRIZE CASES NOW READY FOR SETTLEMENT.

The following prize cases have just been sent to the Fourth Auditor's office by the Navy Department. The prize money will soon be ready for distribution:

IRON-CLAD NO. 1.

"All slushed the ways down which she's bound to glide;
Loud shouts the boss, 'All's ready! Let her slide!'
The whirling ax strikes out the lingering shore;
Slowly she starts, amid the deafening roar
Of men and cannon, and the strident noise
Of crowds of ragged, dirty little boys.
Down, down the smoking ways she grandly crashes,
And onward to her native fluid dashes.
She dips her stern, the yearning wave divides,
Then o'er the elemental breast she swiftly rides,
'Now snub her! Snub her quick!'—The rattling cable
Is stopper'd short as soon as they are able."

It has been from time immemorial the object of philanthropists to find some remedy for the ills of life, and scientific skill has for ages explored every avenue in order to discover the hidden secret. It has been, however, reserved for modern science to bring before the world the great destroyer of disease, and in HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS are concentrated all those virtues which tend to promote healthy and vigorous life. It is, on the contrary, world wide, and the triumphs of this article have blessed alike the rich and the poor, while like the snow that falls gently on the earth, so this friend of mankind causes its blessing to descend upon the suffering and afflicted. Its virtues are known in every quarter of the inhabitable globe, and the wonderful cures which it is daily performing have won for it the highest post in the temple of science. With such recommendations, backed by incontestible and undoubted testimonials from those who have experienced its curative properties, giving to the public no assertion but what has passed through the crucible of truth, and supported by an array of splendid and hitherto unknown triumphs, what wonder is it that thousands rush to it for relief in the hour of danger.

NEW-YORK TESTIMONY.

From John B. Wickersham, Esq., firm of Wickersham & Hutchison, the celebrated manufacturers of fancy iron works, No. 259 Canal-st.:

* * * * * *

I am the recipient from you of one of the greatest favors that can be conferred upon man, viz: That of health. For many years have I suffered from one of the most annoying and debilitating complaints that the human family can be afflicted with, Chronic Diarrhœa.

During the long time I was suffering from this disease I was attended by regular physicians, giving me but temporary relief. The cause seemed to remain until I was induced to try Hoofland's German Bitters. After the use of a few bottles of that valuable medicine, the complaint appeared to be completely eradicated.

I often inwardly thank you for such a valuable specific and, whenever I have an opportunity, cheerfully recommend it, with full confidence in its reliability.

Truly, yours, JOHN B. WICKERSHAM.

From Julius Lee, Esq., firm of Lee & Walker, the most extensive Music Publishers in the United States, No. 722 Chesnut-st., Philadelphia:

FEBRUARY 8, 1864.

MESSRS. JONES & EVANS—GENTLEMEN: My mother-in-law has been so greatly benefited by your Hoofland's German Bitters that I concluded to try it myself. I find it to be an invaluable tonic, and unhesitatingly recommend it to all who are suffering from dyspepsia. I have had that disease in its most obstinate form—flatulence—for many years, and your Bitters has given me ease when everything else has failed. Yours truly, JULIUS LEE.

From that well known citizen, the

HON. JACOB BROOM:

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 7, 1863.

GENTLEMEN: In reply to your inquiry as to the effect produced by the use of "Hoofland's German Bitters" in my family, I have no hesitation whatever in saying that it has been highly beneficial. In one instance, a case of dyspepsia, of about thirteen years' standing, and which had become very distressing, the use of one bottle gave decided relief, the second effecting a cure, and the third, it seems, has confirmed the cure, for there has been no symptoms of its return for the last six years. In my individual use of it, I find it to be an unequaled tonic, and sincerely recommend its use to the sufferers.

Truly yours, JACOB BROOM, No. 1,707 Spruce-st.

The following well-known reverend gentlemen have acknowledged in writing the great benefits they have received from the use of these Bitters. Such testimony must certainly convince the most sceptical:

Rev. J. S. Herman, of the German Reformed Church, Kutztown, Berks County, Penn.
